Seaplane catastrophe

By Stephanie Wareham

TRIBUTES have been paid to a businessman who lived in Bucks after he and his family - including an 11-year-old girl - were killed in a seaplane crash in Sydney on New Year's Eve.

Richard Cousins (pictured), the 58-year-old chief executive of Compass Group who had a home in Hyde Heath, near Amersham, died alongside his sons Will and Edward, aged 25 and 23, his fiancée Emma Bowden, 48, and her young daughter Heather.

The group were on a return flight to Sydney's Rose Bay, close to Sydney Harbour, Australia, when the small aircraft apparently nose-dived into the Hawkesbury River off Jerusalem Bay, 25 miles north of Sydney city centre, at about 3.10pm (4.10am GMT) on Sunday. Seaplane pilot Gareth Morgan also died.

Wanderers cut down Forest

WYCOMBE: Chairboys triumph with narrow win at Adams Park

By Nicholas Tunney

WYCOMBE Wanderers made the perfect start to 2018 by beating League Two strugglers Forest Green Rovers 2-1 at The New Lawn.

After a rampant first half where Wanderers could have had five, the home side, reduced to 10 men in the opening 45 minutes came back into it in the second half.

Matt Bloomfield, in his 400th EFL appearance, and Craig Mackail-Smith did the damage before substitute Jack Fitzwater pulled a goal back.

Bloomfield opened the scoring on 26 minutes after a cross from the excellent Nick Freeman caused chaos in the Forest Green area.

Mackail-Smith then doubled the advantage on 42 minutes after Joe Jacobson's corner was expertly controlled by Adebayo Akinfenwa and the former Peterborough lashed his effort into the top corner.

In between those goals, Charlie Cooper received his marching orders for a clear stamp on Luke O'Nien.

Fitzwater pulled a goal back with a terrific curler with 20 minutes to go that gave Scott Brown no chance.

Wanderers made a bright start to proceedings at The New Lawn, pinning Forest Green back in the opening minutes.

Freeman had the first opportunity for the visitors on three minutes when the ball found him in the box. He shot towards goal with his effort grabbed by keeper Bradley Collins.

Rovers came back strongly and Christian Doidge headed towards goal on six minutes, but his effort was well cleared.

The home side threatened again when Doidge found Daniel Wishart whose powerful strike was well saved by Brown.

It was a lively opening from both sides in Nailsworth. Akinfenwa was next to try his luck on 11 minutes but his header from Mackail-Smith's deep cross was well held by Collins.

Shots kept raining down and seconds later, Collins tipped Bloomfield's firm shot wide. From the resulting corner, Bloomfield had another effort parried into the path of Mackail-Smith who turned the ball home but was offside.

Akinfenwa had a magnificent chance to give Gareth Ainsworth's men the lead on 17 minutes when he met Mackail-Smith's cross but volleyed across the face of goal.

It was then picked up by Freeman who laid the ball to Sam Saunders 20 yards out, and his fizzing strike was acrobatically turned behind.

And the deadlock was finally, and deservedly, broken on 26 minutes when Bloomfield smashed home from six yards.

The goalscorer almost doubled Wanderers' advantage on the half hour mark when he met Akinfenwa's delightful through ball, drove into the box but drilled his shot wide. Things went from bad to worse for the home side when Cooper got dismissed before Mackail-Smith fired home.

Wycombe smelt blood and more intricate play involving Akinfenwa, Mackail-Smith and Saunders saw the former Brentford man hit a fierce effort just wide on 44 minutes.

The second half started off in much quieter fashion with Wycombe looking content to keep possession in the early stages.

Wanderers were looking very comfortable as Forest Green continued to huff and puff without any reward.

Mark Cooper's men had a sniff on 67 minutes as the ball found Doidge, but Brown snuffed out any danger.

Rovers then got a lifeline thanks to Fitzwater's fine strike. The goal seemed to wake up Wycombe and Akinfenwa almost made the points safe in the 80th minute when he met Freeman's improvised cross but headed inches wide with Collins beaten.

O'Nien was then denied at full stretch by Collins with five minutes to go before the Chairboys saw out the game comfortably.

All in all a very satisfactory afternoon for the Chairboys, who remain handily placed in the play-offs.

Ainsworth admits: 'I can step up the divisions'

GARETH Ainsworth has backed himself to manage at a higher level of football after yet another impressive season at the helm of Wycombe Wanderers.

The 44-year-old has steered the Chairboys to fourth place in League Two on a shoestring budget, and hopes to cement an end-of-season play-off place.

And the former Preston North End and Queens Park Rangers midfielder believes he has what it takes to manage in a higher division.

Scores of Championship clubs including Middlesbrough, Nottingham Forest and Sheffield Wednesday have all axed their managers recently, but aspiring bosses like Ainsworth have been overlooked.

And he admitted it would be down to another club to take a chance on his abilities.

He stated: "I back myself (and other League 2 managers) to do a job at a higher level.

"It's just about somebody sticking their neck on the line and wanting to appoint one of the young English managers in the lower leagues.

"I just want to keep doing my job and hopefully one day I will get my rewards. Hopefully that will be with Wycombe.

"I'm very happy and very content in my job at the moment. I either keep doing it until somebody tells me not to or I keep doing it until somebody tells me I've got a chance at a higher level.

"Those are the two options you have. It's a great club, I'm really close to the board, the chairman and the fans and I want to keep doing as well as I can."

Ainsworth does have limited experience managing clubs at a higher division following two short stints as caretaker manager while he was on the books at Queens Park Rangers.

He took charge at Adams Park in 2012 and has managed more than 290 games for the club.

Wycombe boss Gareth Ainsworth has built an impressive reputation and believes he can succeed at a higher level

In the CHAIR

Club chairman, Trevor Stroud

AS we enter 2018, we can reflect on a year of progress both on and off the pitch throughout 2017.

Off the pitch, attendances are up, sales are up and we have received a positive report from the EFL for the Family Excellence Awards. Despite this progress we still have plenty more to do and we continue to have to make difficult decisions in terms of where limited funds can be invested.

Our General Manager, Michael Davies, and his team are working hard to continue to increase revenue and reduce costs, whilst improving the overall matchday experience. The Fans Council meets every month, and offers you the opportunity to raise issues and get feedback on ideas and suggestions. Clearly the answers cannot always be 'yes' to every suggestion, but a number of innovations and changes have been made as a result of the Council.

On the pitch, we enter 2018 in a good position, and if we replicate the number of points earned in the first half of the season, we will have a good chance of being in the play-offs. We are in the third round of the FA Cup for an incredible third year in a row, and although Preston North End will be a stiff test, our recent home form means we can approach this tie with confidence. We all enjoyed our visit to White Hart Lane in January, and a repeat of an attractive fourth round tie again would be brilliant (it wouldn't do our financial situation any harm either!)

Your support has been great as always and you continue to attend away matches in good numbers. If we work as one team on and off the pitch we have to have a better chance of success.

So what of 2018? Well more of the same I guess.

Both the Football Club Board and the Trust Board will continue to work hard to achieve financial stability, whilst achieving success on the field.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank both boards for the time and effort they put in on behalf of the Football Club, as well as all of the other volunteers who offer their time so freely to help keep the club moving in the right direction.

I would like to thank you again for your support and may I wish you a very happy, healthy and successful new year.

WANDERERS RECAP

Boss backs players to cause FA cup upset

BY COURTNEY FRIDAY

WYCOMBE boss Gareth Ainsworth has backed his squad to cause an FA Cup upset when they face Championship side Preston North End in the third round on Saturday (3pm ko).

Alex Neil's high-flying Lillywhites sit more than 30 league places above the Chairboys, but Ainsworth insisted his players will play without fear when the whistle blows at Adams Park.

"It's a big game," asserted Ainsworth. "It's a big time for us. They're flying high in the Championship so we're looking forward to seeing what we can do against them."

"On our day we can play and match any team. We have a great pitch this year."

"We've had some great results and we've got the X-factor of (Adebayo) Akinfenwa up top. I've seen him bully many defenders at the highest level, nevermind anyone else."

"On our day we can match anyone. It's my job to make us tick on the day and consistency is important."

"It's the FA Cup, it's a one-off. You never know what will happen and all sorts of factors will come into it."

"If the form guides and the bookies are anything to go by then it's nothing but a Preston victory, but in this camp we beg to differ."

Wanderers have previously entertained Aston Villa at Adams Park and enjoyed a trip to Wembley Stadium last season to face Tottenham Hotspur in the iconic cup competition.

He continued: "It's great to be able to pit your wits against higher level teams."

"We've had Aston Villa here and Tottenham away. The fans have definitely enjoyed the experience of the FA Cup in recent years."

"Preston North End have a great history. People only really see the last 20 or 30 years but if you delve into their history they're one of the best clubs in the country."

"They were the first ever league champions."

"They have a big following so somebody with that stature coming to Wycombe Wanderers - it's an honour to host them."

"But when that whistle goes the playing field is level."

Preston is a club Ainsworth knows all too well, having played more than 100 games for the Lillywhites during his playing days, scoring 14 goals.

"I made my league debut there," stated Ainsworth.

"I think I was there three or four different times."

"I have a big affinity with North End so it will be nice to see all the fans."

"Hopefully I'll be well received, but on the day I want a Wycombe win."

Captain Matt Bloomfield was withdrawn from the field as a precaution against Forest Green Rovers on Monday, but Ainsworth confirmed the skipper will be fit to face Preston.

Dominic Gape should also be available to play following a recent knock, but a list of long-term absentees means Ainsworth could struggle to fill the bench on Saturday afternoon.

He groaned: "We've got one or two injuries which will lighten the squad."

"We have a smallish squad and we have more than the average number of injuries which is hurting us."

"Filling the bench could be an issue but that's common place here at Wycombe. We just need to make sure the three players that we can put on are a good three."

Manager pays tribute as Eze departs

GARETH Ainsworth tipped Eberechi Eze for stardom after the fleet-footed forward returned to his parent club this week.

The 19-year-old has returned to Loftus Road to join up with the Queens Park Rangers squad following a successful loan spell at Adams Park.

His final outing for the Chairboys came in Monday's thrilling 2-1 win over Forest Green Rovers.

The attacking forward excelled with Wanderers and scored five goals in 22 appearances, helping Ainsworth's men climb to fourth place in Sky Bet League 2 in the process.

And the manager tipped Eze to break into Ian Holloway's first-team plans at Loftus Road.

"He's been outstanding," declared Ainsworth.

"He's played a huge part in us winning some games and he's been that spark when we've needed him."

"He's still got a few bits to refine in his game but he's got everything to be a top top player."

"He'll go back to QPR and I'm sure he'll play a few games for them."

"We wish him all the very best and we're hoping we'll see him in the blue and white hoops soon."

Eberechi Eze scored five goals in 22 games for Wycombe Wanderers during his impressive loan stint from Championship side Queens Park Rangers whom he re-joined this week.

TUNNEY

LAST SEASON, Wycombe came within touching distance of one of the great FA Cup shocks in recent years.

Wanderers went to White Hart Lane for the last time and went 2-0 up against Premier League giants Spurs. The thousands in the away corner dreamed of an upset.

It took until the 96th minute for Spurs' superior forward line of Dele Alli and Son Heung-min to get the winner against the League 2 side, crushing Wanderers fans' hopes.

Now, one year on, Wanderers host Championship high-flyers Preston North End.

Gareth Ainsworth's side will be looking at this game with optimism, after North End were defeated 3-2 in a tough game with Middlesbrough last week, whereas Wanderers beat Forest Green Rovers in preparation for this FA Cup tie.

A win against Preston won't be recognised in the same vein as a win over Tottenham would have been, but it will still be a giant result for Wycombe.

While many football fans up and down the country may have fallen out of love with the sport's oldest competition over the years, it is still as important as ever for fans of lower league teams.

A big cup run is what makes a season memorable for many teams, regardless of league position.

Whilst losing Eberechi Eze will not help Wanderers, they still have firepower up front, and will no doubt have the backing of a packed Adams Park.

In players like Sam Saunders and Adebayo Akinfenwa, they have experience when it comes to the big games, experience that will be vital in a game such as this.

Wanderers are in a good league position right now, in a very competitive division.

When it comes to the end of the season, it may only be two or three points separating teams in the play-offs and those not.

The challenge for Gareth Ainsworth now is trying to juggle his priorities, there's no doubt that a cup run could be massively beneficial to the club, the television money would be huge, and the chance to play a Manchester City or Arsenal in the fourth round is something fans will go to bed dreaming about.

But at the same time, after coming close so many times, getting back into League 1 brings the attraction of consistently better opposition, increased attendances, higher revenue and a raised profile.

Neither competition can be sniffed at, and I'm confident Wanderers will have a real good go at both.

And with a little bit of luck, who would bet against them enjoying success on both front.

The FA Cup final will take place at Wembley Stadium.

PRESTON North End will be keen to get themselves back to winning ways after a disappointing 3-2 defeat to Middlesbrough earlier this week.

Alex Neil's Lillywhites sit in ninth place in the Sky Bet Championship following a steady start to the current campaign.

Neil could opt to rest one or two of his key players. However, he will not want to underestimate Wycombe's strengths and will be more than aware of the threat that Ainsworth's men can pose.

Preston have been in decent form throughout December with notable victories over Sheffield United and second-placed Cardiff City, two of the league's better performers of the current season.

But they let themselves slip against Middlesbrough and ended up on the wrong end of a 3-2 scoreline at Deepdale.

North End's key man is Jordan Hugill, who has excelled at Deepdale in the past two seasons.

He was embroiled in a transfer saga at the start of the season with several clubs said to be looking at him and it remains to be seen whether he will be a North End player come the end of January.

His form has been lethal once again this season, so far scoring 10 goals in his 26 appearances for Preston.

Elsewhere on the pitch, the pacey Tom Barkhuizen poses a constant threat out wide and Wanderers will need to keep a close eye on him if he features on Saturday.

Ainsworth will also be wary of Ben Pearson, the man who makes things tick in the heart of the North End midfield.

Pearson can drive forward from the back, pick out a pass and make tackles in the midfield as well as being an all round game changer on his day.

I've been impressed with what Ainsworth has done at Wycombe but sadly I cannot see anything other than a Preston North End win on Saturday.

Everything goes to Pott

ALFIE Potter scored an equaliser and set up a late winner as Mansfield Town put Wycombe Wanderers to the sword with a 2-1 win at Adams Park.

Lee Angol netted the winner for The Stags on 80 minutes when he flicked CJ Hamilton's low cross with aplomb past Scott Brown.

The goal was tinged with controversy, however, with Angol lucky to be on the pitch after lashing out at Dan Scarr midway through the second half.

Manager Gareth Ainsworth named an unchanged side from the Boxing Day win against Newport County as he looked to build on the success and push further up the play-off places.

He explained his decision to stick with the same team, saying: "The rest period is a normal Tuesday to Saturday, so the worry was rotation.

"I've spoken to all the players concerned, especially the ageing ones, and I've got a good feeling squad in there."

Wanderers got off to the dream start on six minutes when Dominic Gape got free down the right and played in the perfect cross for the powerful Adebayo Akinfenwa to head home brilliantly past Bobby Olejnik.

However, Mansfield started like a train in the second half and Potter slotted past Brown on 51 minutes to equalise for Steve Evans' side before Angol's late winner.

Chairboys were on top from the get-go, putting the Mansfield defence under severe pressure.

Akinfenwa almost made it two on nine minutes when he met Joe Jacobson's corner with a firm header which was superbly tipped away by Olejnik.

Mansfield's afternoon got worse as they were forced into a double change after just 17 minutes, with Zander Diamond and Danny Rose being forced off through injury.

Ade Akinfenwa puts pressure on Mansfield's defence

The Stags were trying to get a foothold in the game, but Wycombe were proving well drilled in the opening half-hour.

After a quiet spell, Akinfenwa had another opportunity with his head on 37 minutes thanks to a devilish cross from Nathan Tyson, but his effort went wide.

Wanderers looked a huge threat on the break with Tyson's pace and the jet-heeled forward got in behind on 42 minutes and laid the ball to Paris Cowan-Hall, who shot wide.

Mansfield started to cause a few issues for the Wycombe defence and Angol stabbed the ball at goal just before the break, which Brown smothered well.

The Chairboys came so close to making it two seconds before the interval when the ball found Akinfenwa in the box. His classy effort came back off the post with the rebound falling to Tyson, who's thumping effort was brilliantly saved by Olejnik.

From the resulting corner,

Akinfenwa's bullet header went agonisingly wide.

The visitors flew out of the traps in the second half and Brown produced a brave save to deny Angol after superb play by CJ Hamilton down the left.

But Mansfield would not be denied and Potter equalised in the 52nd minute with a smart, low finish past Brown.

With that the momentum changed as the visitors began playing some slick football.

Angol had the next chance two minutes later, but he fired over from 15 yards when well placed.

Brown then produced a magnificent save to deny the lively Angol one-on-one after the striker got in behind the Wycombe backline on 58 minutes.

It was turning into a feisty encounter with Angol, already on a booking, lucky not to get another yellow card after wrapping his arm around Scarr's neck.

Wanderers were grafting but Mansfield were still looking a real danger to the home side.

Yet the pendulum began to swing back in the Blues' favour

Wycombe skipper Matt Bloomfield controls the ball on his chest with Tyson causing problems down the left.

But their fate was sealed 10 minutes from time when Angol produced a sublime flick past Brown from Potter's cross to give the Stags all three points.

Scarr then wasted a great opportunity to equalise for the hosts, but he headed straight at Olejnik after a wonderful cross from Tyson.

Substitute Nick Freeman almost saw his cross drop in with moments remaining before a huge shout for handball at the death for Wanderers was turned down by referee Christopher Sarginson. Akinfenwa had one final opportunity to grab a point, but his header drifted just wide. This defeat saw Wanderers slip to fifth in the league, but they redeemed themselves with a win over struggling Forest Green Rovers on New Years Day. Wanderers came out of the busy period of fixtures with six points out of a possible 12, the only two defeats coming against sides in the top six, third placed Coventry and Mansfield.

Bloomfield nets on 400th Wycombe appearance

MATT Bloomfield could not hide his delight when he marked his 400th appearance for Wycombe Wanderers with a goal. The midfield maestro, who has represented the Chairboys for the last 14 years, got on the end of an Adebayo Akinfenwa knock-down to blast the visitors ahead at The New Lawn. “I’m extremely proud of that,” asserted Bloomfield. It’s been a great 14 years. I said to JJ (Joe Jacobson) on the way in that today a goal would be great – I knew I was playing off the big man (Adebayo Akinfenwa) and it makes our jobs so much easier when he’s in that kind of mood because he dominates the defenders and gives us so much room. Perhaps I should have scored before that, but I kept getting chances and I knew one would go in, and it did.” Striker Craig Mackail-Smith had doubled Wycombe’s advantage after the hosts were reduced to 10 men. But Wanderers gave Forest Green a glamour of hope after some sloppy play. And Bloomfield insisted his teammates should have kept a clean sheet. He added: “We should have been out of sight. We had enough shots and chances to win two or three games, but we only got the two goals and you have to credit Forest Green for coming out fighting in the second half. We made hard work of it but we held on. Maybe we had the away jitters because we hadn’t won away for a while but we’re pleased to get this one under our belts.” Wanderers picked up six points from four games across the festive period, winning two and losing two. Bloomfield bemoaned the points tally but praised Wanderers’ league position with Ainsworth’s side currently sitting in fourth place in Sky Bet League 2. He concluded: “If we’d collected four draws people might have been ok with that, being unbeaten, but we’ve won two and lost two and got more points. “Going into it we might have wanted seven or nine but this puts us into a nice position going into the New Year. “If you said at the start of the season we’d be fourth at this stage we’d have taken that as we know we can have a strong second half.”

'I want to manage at a higher level' - Ainsworth

By Courtney Friday

WYCOMBE boss Gareth Ainsworth revealed his ambitions to manage at a higher level this week.

The 44-year-old stressed he "very happy and content" in his role with the League 2 outfit, but insisted he wants to progress in the future.

And he has the perfect opportunity to test himself against bigger opposition when Chairboys host high-flying Championship side Preston North End at Adams Park.

Ainsworth has steered Wanderers to fourth place this campaign and hopes to establish Wycombe as genuine play-off contenders after missing out by a single point last season.

But he will take one eye off the league on Saturday when he welcomes Alex Neil's Lillywhites to Adams Park (3pm ko).
