Controversial school plans

By Stephanie Wareham

CONTROVERSIAL plans to open up a conservative Christian school site in the Bucks countryside have been slammed by a leading humanist charity – amid claims children are at risk of “narrowly religious and extremely insular” education.

A new primary and secondary school site in Cadmore End could be built for the Plymouth Brethren Christian Church – a hard-line Christian fellowship which the majority of members are born into.

They believe homosexuality is immoral, women must pray with head scarves so they do not cause themselves “shame” and are also “concerned” about the “corrupting or damaging” effect of TV and radio on children.

The new school plans, which would replace an equestrian centre on Chequers Lane, have been criticised by Humanists UK, a charity which campaigns against faith schools, as well as nearby residents.

If given the green light, the new schools would feature a gym and new sports pitches and would cater for 275 pupils aged between seven and 18. All the pupils at the school would be brought into the site each morning and taken home each evening by a fleet of 26 minibuses – which the applicant says would see much less congestion than if parents dropped them at school themselves. Nearby residents have complained that Chequers Lane is already “incredibly busy” and argued a new school site would make the situation worse.

Valiant residents sleep rough

150 people take on freezing temperatures to raise money for charity

By Shruti Sheth Trivedi

MORE than 100 kind-hearted people braved freezing temperatures to raise money for charity.

A total of 150 people, some as young as 12, slept rough for Wycombe Homeless Connection's Big Sleepout at Adams Park.

TV star James Corden, a former Hazlemere resident, lent his support to the sleepout this year by filming a video clip encouraging people to take part in the charity's biggest fundraiser.

Resident Jane Smith was the highest fundraiser, raising a total of £1,937 for the charity and youngsters Jamie Nuttall, Ieuan Baker and Ben Senior, all aged 13 drummed up a total of £1,276 between them.

Other 'sleepouters' included Wycombe MP Steve Baker, Wycombe district councillor Maz Hussain and Robert Sales, who won a bid to spend the night on a double bed provided by Dreams, which is also sponsoring this year's event.

A sleepout was also held in Marlow and organisers say the two combined are likely to have raised around £60,000.

Sheena Dykes, chair of trustees at Wycombe Homeless Connection, said: "We have been overwhelmed by the support of so many people this weekend. The money raised will make a huge difference to the work we are able to do."

Former Wanderers star dies

By Shruti Sheth Trivedi

FORMER Wycombe Wanderers player and "loyal fan" Dudley Kipping has died after falling at his home in High Wycombe.

The son of Wanderers' 1931 FA Amateur Cup Final hero Jim Kipping, 87-year-old Dudley, who lived in Wordsworth Road, died in hospital.

Along with his brother Rowley, he tried to emulate his father's goalkeeping feats and played reserve team football at Loakes Park, but he became better known as a referee, being awarded a long service medal for 50 years of service by the FA in 2007.

He was also president of the Wycombe Referees' Society for 40 years before handing over to lifelong friend Bill Cleere in 2006.

The Wycombe Wanderers Ex-Players Association said the church played a "huge" part in the life of the Kipping family, with Jim a Deacon and Sunday School teacher at the Union Baptist Church and Dudley – the proud owner of his father's vast collection of medals – playing the organ there for 68 years.

Rowley died in 2008 but Dudley supported the Chairboys, visiting Adams Park regularly until just a few weeks ago with daughter Sheryl, and occasionally his other daughters, Jan and Michelle.

Jim, who was a dental technician at Dudley Baker's in the town before running his own shop in Bowerdean, died on June 27, 1985, just three months after his wife Minnie.

Dudley Kipping sadly died after a fall at his home

Dudley was also a well-known shopkeeper, running the Kipping and Wood Store in Naphill for many years.

His death comes after another former player, Cyrille Regis, died in January this year aged 59.

The Wycombe Wanderers Ex-Players Association paid tribute to Dudley, along with ten other members the club has lost this year, at their annual dinner at Adams Park on November 23.

Hundreds turn out to remember lost loved ones

AN ANNUAL ceremony to remember lost loved ones broke all records this year, organisers said.

Hundreds of people turned out to the Tree of Light ceremony in Princes Risborough on Sunday.

The Princes Risborough Rotary Club, which organises the event every year with Rennie Grove Hospice Care, said this year's dedications set a new record.

The ceremony was led by Reverend James Tomkins and the lights were switched on by town mayor Cllr Matthew Walsh.

Rotary president Richard Stevenson said: "The Tree of Light is now established as a much-loved activity in the build up to Christmas and the numbers attending the dedication ceremony emphasise how much local people appreciate the opportunity to reflect on the lives of their loved ones in a welcoming and dignified environment."

'Healthcare heroes' celebrated

"HEALTHCARE heroes" were celebrated at an annual awards ceremony this month.

Buckinghamshire Healthcare NHS Trust staff were commended for "going the extra mile" at a ceremony held at the Gateway, in Aylesbury, where the winners strutted their stuff on a catwalk with live music.

Individuals and teams were recognised for delivering safe and compassionate care for patients in hospitals and across local communities.

Wycombe Hospital's day nursery won the Support Services Ambassador Award. The nursery was found to have gone "above and beyond" to allow staff to fulfil additional shifts in times of "great demand".

The trust said the nursery's commitment to improving facilities outside of working hours was "greatly appreciated" by the families.

And the early pregnancy loss support group and maternity volunteer Holly Byrne received a joint award for volunteer of the year.

The support group was set up to provide families experiencing pregnancy loss and, in spite of a traumatic birth, Holly turned her negative experience into a positive learning opportunity for midwives, helping staff understand the importance of effective communications to patients.

And the lifetime achievement award was given to Larry Benjamin a consultant in ophthalmology.

Trust CEO Neil Macdonald said: "He is a gifted surgeon who has significantly advanced patient safety in eye surgery. He is an outstanding communicator and trainer as well as a kind and caring individual dedicated to patient welfare."

"Congratulations to all our finalists – the stories I heard that evening, the lengths to which people go to provide exceptional care, were moving and inspiring."

"I am incredibly proud of our winners and of all our staff who work hard day in, day out."

Brilliant Blues make it

Gareth Ainsworth and Fred Onyedinma

Jason McCarthy makes it five on the bounce

By Nicholas Tunney

WYCOMBE Wanderers made it five League One wins on the spin at home as they secured a 3-2 victory against Shrewsbury Town in a lively encounter at Adams Park.

Goals from Shrewsbury old boys Adam El-Abd and Joe Jacobson and a third of the season for Alex Samuel gave the Blues maximum points against Danny Coyne's side.

Former Wycombe striker Aaron Holloway gave the visitors an early lead and Fejiri Okenabirhie scored with 20 minutes to make the game interesting.

Wycombe made a fast start and Fred Onyedinma came close to opening the scoring in the first minute, letting fly from 20 yards which whistled just past the post.

However, Shrewsbury opened the scoring on three minutes when Holloway headed home from eight yards after great work down the right by Greg Docherty.

With their very next attack, former Shrews defender El-Abd equalised with an incredible effort, controlling expertly before rifling home from 15 yards past Steve Arnold.

Wycombe were beginning to get on top and brilliant work by Jason McCarthy on 16 minutes saw him storm into the box but his low cross was cleared.

There was a really lively tempo to the game with Shrewsbury looking lively up top and Wanderers possessing plenty of threat going forward.

More great work by McCarthy on the half-hour mark presented Nathan Tyson with a chance but he was always stretching for the ball and it went out of play for a goal kick.

The Blues were looking good and Jacobson gave the Chairboys a deserved lead on 40 minutes, smashing home an unstoppable shot with his right foot to give Arnold absolutely no chance.

Shrewsbury immediately responded and Luke Waterfall smashed a header against the post from six yards on 42 minutes.

The second half started in fairly even fashion. The tireless Alex Samuel saw a shot from a very tight angle drift harmlessly over on 52 minutes.

Excellent work from Samuel again presented a chance for Nick Freeman on 55 minutes but his fierce strike was blocked by Josh Emmanuel.

Wanderers came close to making it 3-1 on the hour when Sido Jombati

The Blues were knocking on the door and Arnold made a smart save on 62 minutes to deny Freeman's rasping effort.
Wycombe managed to keep up the tempo and extended their advantage on 71 minutes when Samuel rifled home from 12 yards after brilliant work from Randell Williams and Freeman, who laid it to him.
However, a minute later, Shrewsbury capitalised on a mistake in midfield and Okenabirhie coolly slotted home after a lovely pass from Oliver Norburn.
Wycombe continued to press for a fourth goal with Onyedinnma to the fore although Shrewsbury.
El-Abd had a great chance to find the net to make the game safe on 82 minutes, but he headed over when well placed from Jacobson's corner.
Wanderers looked more likely to get a fourth that the Shrews did to equalise and Dominic Gape's pile-driver from 25 yards on 85 minutes only just went over.

With the win, Wycombe jumped to 12th in League One.
Wanderers boss Gareth Ainsworth said: "This winning run at home hasn't been a flash in the pan.
"We have really worked and deserved most of those wins. The Scunthorpe win [3-2 in the last minute] was a one-off but the rest of them we have ground it out.
"We are beginning to make this place a fortress.
"The away form has always been quite decent under me so if we can get the home form going it is a really good equation to get many points on the board.
"I think the lads are comfortable at home. We have this core support who are coming in and making a lot of noise, which is great.
"They helped us to see out the game and it is brilliant to make Adams Park the fortress it once was and I am so proud of the efforts of everyone.
"Shrewsbury are a tough side. Danny [Coyne] has them playing well and we were able to see the game out well. Aaron Holloway was always going to score but after his goal, we weren't troubled too much apart from that ridiculous goal in the second half.

"We played very well going forward and we found a few holes and it is nice when it comes off.
"Joe's goal was a fantastic strike and those bits of magic come off and Alex deserved his goal, he led the line brilliantly."

BFP sports reporter Nick Tunney

Nick Tunney with Adam El-Abd

I BET you all thought you were lucky you wouldn't have to read my comment this week, but I thought I would give you an insight into how a midweek away trip to Accrington went for me.

I hadn't been to a midweek game yet this season due to work commitments but took the plunge with Wycombe not having a game for 11 days.

Travelling up and down the M6 may not be to everyone's taste, but I had the buzz from the moment I set off from home and travelled in the company of colleagues and friends from the radio, Alan Harris and Phil Catchpole.

Since I started at the paper in November 2016, it has been great to build a rapport with the likes of Phil and Alan as well as Matt Cecil and Tom Jarvis, the media team at Wanderers.

We all help each other out when it gets to it and would be surprised if there is a tighter knit group of journalists and media teams than us who cover the Chairboys.

I like to get to the game early and familiarise myself with the club and watch the players warm-up.

Teamsheets get submitted and then you begin to get a feel of the atmosphere, which begins to crackle.

I might help out Phil on radio and deliberate with Alan on Wycombe Sound about the team selection.

When the whistle blows for kick-off, it is about making sure you keep your eye on the ball (literally) and make sure you are accurate as possible. Spelling a player's name wrong is absolutely the worst thing you can do as a reporter (think I have avoided it so far).

Wycombe are famous for scoring late goals, which certainly makes me sending my match report on the whistle trickier but it is fantastic to see the Blues doing so well in League One.

Once done, Gareth Ainsworth will come and address the press, always making time for me and providing some brilliant quotes.

Following that will be a player heavily involved in the match and then it is back to BFP Towers to publish that all.

Tyson delighted to be back after lay-off

By Nicholas Tunney

BLUES forward Nathan Tyson admitted he was delighted to be selected for his first start of the season against Shrewsbury after a long lay-off through injury.

Tyson played 65 minutes in the 3-2 win against the Shrews and posed the opposition defence problems with his trademark electric pace.

The former Reading and Nottingham Forest man said he was pleasantly surprised to be picked and was grateful to boss Gareth Ainsworth for giving him a chance.

He said: "I am very grateful the gaffer picked me and told me to get in there and go and do it."

"I was a little bit off it at certain stages of the game, but the fitness will come through and will get back to the way I was."

"I am delighted to get 65 minutes under my belt. That has been ticked off and added to the minutes I did when I came on against Sunderland, it is progress."

"I was out for about 15 weeks and it is going to take a little bit of time and I am grateful that the gaffer showed faith in me."

"The team helped me along the way and they have given me confidence. They have been fantastic."

Tyson commented that the dressing room was also a very happy place to be as the Blues secured their fifth straight league win at home.

He added: "The dressing room was buzzing."

"To get five wins out of five at home is fantastic. We will enjoy this but we will look ahead now."

Nathan Tyson

Tyson also explained that he is relishing the opportunity to try and cement a place in the team but also admitted that there is a lot of healthy competition in the camp.

He said: "It is part and parcel of the job. There is always going to be competition."

"But it is has to be healthy competition because everyone has to push each other along with enthusiasm and get behind whoever starts."

"You have to get behind the team and whenever you are there and have a job to come on you have to do your bit."

"I have been at clubs where the competition has been a bit toxic but credit to the gaffer and Dobbo [Richard Dobson] and the type of players they bring in."

Adam El-Abd

WANDERERS: On-loan keeper makes an impact Stockdale: I am loving it at Wycombe

ON-LOAN Wycombe keeper David Stockdale admitted he is loving his short stint at Adams Park as he marked his debut with a win against Shrewsbury.

Stockdale, on an emergency loan deal from Birmingham, impressed against Shrewsbury and drew admiring words from manager Gareth Ainsworth about his display.

With potentially only one more game in a Wanderers jersey, Stockdale spoke enthusiastically about how he has fitted in already.

He said: "I am really enjoying my time here."

"I knew a couple of the lads from before. They know I am not a bad egg or anything like that so I got welcomed in and it is really nice to be a part of it again."

With another win under their belts at home, Stockdale felt the side deserved all three points against the Shrews.

He added: "I thought that we controlled the game. We definitely deserved the win but we made it hard for ourselves at the end."

"All due credit, they didn't have a lot that came my way and that's credit to the 10 players in front of me. Everybody here knows what they are good at and everyone is willing to do their work."

"Even the lads that are more flair players, who you would expect to do their thing up the pitch, they are tackling back and defending."

"It is a good League One side and if they keep going there is no limit on these guys."

David Stockdale impressed on his Wycombe debut

Kashket: I felt it would be my time to shine

CHAIRBOYS striker Scott Kashket admitted he felt the game at Accrington was made for him to come on and shine as he rose from the bench to strike a sublime equaliser which paved the way for Wanderers to beat Accrington in the last minute.

Kashket scored on 77 minutes, firing home expertly from 12 yards after controlling Dominic Gape's excellent pass with aplomb.

The 22-year-old has endured a frustrating time with injuries in recent times but that goal was his fifth of the season.

He said: "I felt like this could be my chance to get on. I came on and got the equaliser and then Alex [Samuel] got the winner and it was brilliant and it gets us into the top ten.

"It was a great ball from Dom and he played it where I wanted. When the ball bounced I just got my foot over it and kept it down and as soon as I hit it I knew the keeper was getting that."

Kashket also heaped praise on Alex Samuel and he highlighted just how important he has been to the team.

He added: "If there is anyone you want to get to the winner it is him. He is arguably the nicest person I know and he deserved everything he has got."

Scott Kashket inspired the comeback at Accrington

WYCOMBE: Boss thrilled with 2-1 victory at Accrington Stanley Ainsworth gets one over 'nemesis'

By Nicholas Tunney

ALEX Samuel was the Wycombe hero as his magnificent goal in injury time gave Wanderers a dramatic 2-1 victory against Accrington Stanley at the Crown Ground.

Samuel smashed a home a wonderful strike in injury time from the tightest of angles to send the Wanderers fans into pandemonium.

Earlier on, Scott Kashket equalised on 77 minutes, firing home from 10 yards from Dominic Gape's long pass.

Sean McConville gave the home side the lead at the Crown Ground on 14 minutes, lashing home from close-range after a huge scramble in the Wycombe box.

Wanderers began the better and Accrington winger Jordan Clark denied Fred Onyedima a tap-in on six minutes after fantastic work in the box by Craig Mackail-Smith.

The alert Mackail-Smith had an opportunity on 11 minutes when a slight mix-up between Mark Hughes and Connor Ripley in the Accrington goal presented a chance for the former Posh man but his lob was gratefully caught by Ripley.

However, the home side took the lead on 14 minutes through the lively McConville.

The home side were beginning to pile on the pressure and McConville had a shot beaten out by David Stockdale on 23 minutes.

The Blues themselves did look a threat up top and Nick Freeman's low shot on a slick surface was well held by Ripley a minute later.

Freeman's direct style was posing issues for Stanley and his thumping effort 60 seconds later flew just wide of the far post from 20 yards.

The game was developing into a lively affair and Stockdale produced a superb save to deny Sam Finley on 28 minutes.

Stockdale performed more heroics on the half hour mark as he parried well from Billy Kee's firm strike.

It was really nip and tuck and Mackail-Smith swept over on 34 minutes from 15 yards after brilliant play between Jason McCarthy and Onyedima.

The dangerous McConville had a chance from a free kick on 39 minutes but Stockdale comfortably saw his 25-yarder go wide.

Accrington came so close to making it two on 40 minutes when Finley's wicked cross was met sweetly on the volley by Kee, who saw his effort crash off the crossbar to safety.

A flashpoint occurred on 44 minutes when Finley jumped into a 50/50 tackle with Onyedima but saw yellow from referee Scott Oldham.

A minute later, McConville was once again denied by the superb Stockdale who palmed his wonderful free kick away.

In the second half, both teams were scrapping in midfield but neither side had created much in the first 20 minutes of that period.

Gareth Ainsworth was a happy man at the final whistle

Kashket almost made an immediate impact in the game on 66 minutes when he raced down the right and burst into the box but Hughes made a goal-saving tackle to deny him.

Wanderers were beginning to build up a head of steam and Dominic Gape flashed a volley just wide on 71 minutes as Stanley failed to clear.

Accrington were still playing attractive football and Finley was denied comfortably by Stockdale on 73 minutes after a lovely cross from Dan Barlaser.

However, Kashket conjured up a wonderful equaliser, turning sharply in the box and firing home with 13 minutes to go.

Accrington came within inches of regaining the lead on 83 minutes when Offrande Zanzala's header went across goal and hit the post before a relieved Stockdale fell on it.

Both teams were going for the win and Stockdale produced another fine save in his duel with McConville with three minutes to go.

Accrington had a huge appeal for a penalty before Samuel sealed the points to secure Wycombe's first win against their opponents in 12 attempts dating back to 2012 and move to 10th in League One.

Wycombe boss Gareth Ainsworth was delighted to beat his 'nemesis' Accrington, saying: "I played the last time we won here so that shows how long ago it was."

"It was a fantastic game. Accrington play good football and without Bayo we have to play a different way and we did it really well."

"We tried to frustrate them and they had a couple of good chances and Stockdale made some fantastic saves.

"I didn't know the subs would play such a big part and Scotty took his goal so well after a great ball from Gapey."

"And Alex Samuel, wow, he is something special. I am so pleased for him and he is so humble."

Wanderers picked up 10 points from a possible 12 in November taking some big scalps along the way and they now have an 11-day break between games.

Ainsworth admitted this is definitely to his squad's benefit heading into a busy festive period.

He added: "We will have a bit of a break and we can have a full week to prepare for Barnsley."

"It has been a tough three days and some of the boys will need a break and we are hoping the likes of Bayo and Matt Bloomfield will be back in contention."

WYCOMBE WANDERERS: Stockdale, McCarthy, Jombati, El-Abd, Harriman, Onyedima, Gape, Thompson (sub: Morris, 75), Freeman (sub: Tyson, 65), Samuel, Mackail-Smith (sub: Kashket, 65). Subs: Yates, Jacobson, Stewart, Williams.

Rams get non-league giants in FA Trophy

Beaconsfield Town to face Leyton Orient

Beaconsfield Town beat Leiston on Saturday in FA Trophy qualifying

By Nicholas Tunney

BEACONSFIELD Town have been given a mouthwatering FA Trophy first round clash against Leyton Orient on December 15 following their impressive 3-1 win in the final qualifying round against Leiston.

Marvin Morgan capped a man of the match performance with a well taken goal to seal the victory as the Rams progressed to the first round proper for the first time in their history.

Morgan led the line with skill and intelligence, protected possession and linked play superbly all afternoon until his withdrawal for the fresher legs of Tony Mendy with 80 minutes on the clock.

Charlie Losasso put the Rams ahead after only three minutes. The ever-industrious Louis Stead delivered an inch perfect cross field ball to pick out Bajram Pashaj who cushioned it into the path of Losasso. He applied the finish with an angled side foot volley from 15 yards giving Marcus Garnham in the Leiston goal no chance.

The Rams then punished the visitors for failing to capitalise on their spell of pressure and doubled their advantage on 28 minutes. Wes Daly's curling free kick tempted Garnham off his line but Jordan 'AJ' Ajalekoko stepped in front and beat the keeper to the ball by a whisker, stooping bravely to head into the corner and taking a whack on the ear for his trouble.

Beaconsfield had chances to kill the game but were made to may pay for their profligacy.

Having had one effort ruled out for offside Blues forced a corner which was allowed to travel all the way across goal where it was headed powerfully home by the impressive Blues captain Joe Jefford.

On 78 minutes, however, the Rams finished the job and sealed a famous win.

The always influential Pashaj saw a goalbound shot deflected behind.

From the resulting corner Losasso picked out Morgan who climbed above Knights beyond the far post to steer a header back into the net.

Samuel: We can surprise

Wycombe Wanderers

WYCOMBE match-winner Alex Samuel backed the Blues to surprise a lot more teams this season as they jumped to 10th in League One thanks to their 2-1 win over Accrington Stanley.

Samuel slammed home a glorious goal deep in injury time to inspire his side to their third win in four games in November.

And with that, the Chairboys cemented their place in the top half for another 11 days at least and former Stevenage striker Samuel thinks Wycombe can keep continuing to upset the applecart.

He said: "We are a good team and if we keep doing what we are doing then I think we can surprise a lot of teams for the rest of the season."

"It is just unbelievable. The ball bounced around in the box and nobody reacted so I thought I would put my foot through it and it rifled into the net."

"These are the reasons why we play and it was a really special moment."

With 13 minutes to go, the Blues were behind but Scott Kashket's equaliser paved the way for Samuel to step up and smash in the winner to spark wild scenes amongst the Wycombe faithful.

Samuel added: "We never give up and that is credit to everyone."

"We weren't at it in the first half and we have so much character. If we keep it 1-0 we are always in the game."

"We changed it at half-time and pressed higher and they couldn't really play then."

"I am just delighted to play. I love this club and to score like that is what football is all about."
