THE BLUES NEWS

Ticket sales exceed hopes

COMMERCIAL BREAK
By Marketing Manager Mark Austin

FOLLOWING a few negative comments at the end of last season, I had not expected that we would sell 1,000 season tickets in the first seven days of the 1996/97 tickets going on sale to existing season ticket holders.

We also had not expected there to be such a high demand for the best seats in the new 5,000-seater Woodlands Stand. More than 80 per cent of season tickets sold in the first week of June were for the new stand's upper and lower tiers.

The interest in junior season tickets, from only £35 for all 23 Nationwide Football League matches, has been immense, especially as the price includes £10 worth of membership of the Junior Blues Official Supporters Club.

These tickets and the £40 junior-seat season tickets will only be available until 5.30pm tomorrow at Wanderers In Town in the Octagon Shopping Centre or by 5.15pm tonight from the Commercial Office at Adams Park. After this deadline, both increase by £5 to £40 and £45 respectively, which is still a remarkable buy.

Children under eight must be accompanied by an adult, but eight to 15-year-olds can be unaccompanied, although the club would prefer eight to 11-year-olds to be supervised by an adult if at all possible.

I have been telling everybody for the last year that the seating capacity of the new stand will be 5,060. It is only recently I discovered that this was not 100 per cent factual.

The actual seating capacity of the new Woodlands Stand will be 4,990, broken down as follows: upper tier 2,842; lower tier 1,738; executive level 360; disabled wheelchair places 50.

The seating capacity of the Amersham & Wycombe College Stand is now 1,049. The overall

Best seller: Tickets are being snapped up for the new stand seating capacity for Adams Park has now jumped from 1,267 last season to 7,306 for the 1996/97 season.

The AXA Equity & Law Stand holds 2,198, leaving 496 places in the Paddock area in front of the main stand. The total capacity will therefore increase from 9,649 last season to 10,000 for the 1996/97 season.

Several supporters have been concerned about the decrease in the capacity for away supporters.

The club have not sold any season tickets in Blocks H and V in the main stand which leaves 197 seats in Block H and 96 in Block V available to away fans.

Also, with all-ticket matches, it is possible that 516 seats in the lower tier of the new Woodlands Stand (Blocks A, B and C) will be allocated to away fans. This gives the stadium a potential away capacity of 1,858 which will be more than enough for the vast majority of matches.

It's as exciting as Euro 96 here

WITH the European Championship now reaching its climax, things are equally as busy at WWFC.

All the staff have been working hard during the summer months to make sure that we start a successful campaign for what will be a very interesting season.

We have new sponsors for the Football League, which will give added interest, and with Watford, Luton Town and Millwall being relegated last season and Preston North End, Gillingham, Bury and Plymouth Argyle gaining promotion, there will be many interesting games which will give all of our supporters a chance to see how far the team have improved.

We are at present in the process of completing the work on the ground and I can only tell you that I am convinced we will have one of the most attractive grounds in the Nationwide Football League Division Two and the £2 million stand gives the whole of the stadium a new atmosphere.

I think if we can generate good support from all around the ground this will make it difficult for our opponents when they visit, especially after long journeys.

Our new kit sponsor Mizuno has worked hard in bringing in all types of new kit, especially leisure items and I think you will be pleasantly surprised at many of the items that will be on sale.

By Manager Alan Smith

We will be producing new items during the season, many of which will be worn by the players and staff of this football club.

On top of this, I am pleased to say that several of our players from last season have signed new long-term contracts with the football club and we are in the process of making new signings so the side is strengthened for the start of the campaign.

Strengthened

With all that going on at the club at the moment, it is a new and exciting time and it is certainly a period we should look forward to and not back.

However, I am convinced in my own mind we are at the start of something that is going to be very exciting and I am certainly interested to see how we perform in our home matches for the pre-season against Queens Park Rangers, Southampton, Birmingham City and Swindon Town.

I have deliberately limited our games for pre-season so there is not so much travelling for our supporters and hope as many of you can come along to these games as possible.

Our successful youth team from last year has again been strengthened and I think that Neil Smillie and Jim Melvin will be looking forward to taking on their new recruits.

When we started last season, we had several key players injured and it was not possible for Terry Evans or Keith Ryan to play until well into the season, but I am pleased to report that all our injured players are now fit and hope that on the first day of pre-season they will be reporting back for training to go straight into what will be a hard, physical time.

We are spending one week at an army camp so that our fitness levels will be at an all-time high and I am also employing the services of a fitness coach to take us for the second week so that we can perform to the level that is now expected of professionals.

I hope that everyone is having a good summer and enjoying the European Championship, but there is still plenty of cricket, athletics and other sports to come.

Enjoy the rest of the summer break and I look forward to seeing everyone back refreshed for our first home match against Gillingham on Saturday, August 24.

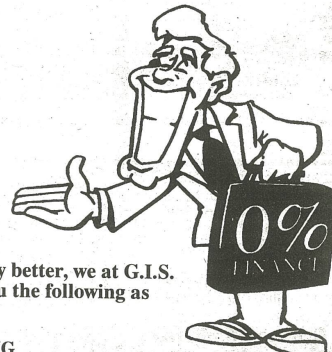

The boss: Alan Smith believes a good atmosphere at Wycombe's games will make life difficult for visiting teams

Mingle with your favourites at open day

WYCOMBE Wanderers Football Club are holding their second annual open day on Sunday, August 4.

Members of the public are welcome to come down to the stadium for an afternoon of entertainment. There is a chance to look around the facilities and meet the first-team squad and football management.

The proposed events and attractions on the day, which are still to be finalised, include a football exhibition by the Wycombe Wanderers youth team.

There will also be a live interview with Wycombe Wanderers manager Alan Smith and a selection of the professional players, autograph-signing and photo sessions with the players and management, a Wanderers In Town fashion show, a children's bouncy castle, Bucks Free Press double decker bus, face painters, balloon artists and Quasar.

The day, which kicks off at around 11am, will give all supporters the opportunity to look further behind the scenes at Adams Park, with various rooms being open for general viewing. These include the boardroom, which contains the trophy cabinet, the home and away changing rooms and the players' gymnasium.

Wanderers' second annual open day will be free to any members of the public attending.

More details regarding the day and the events being held will be released nearer the time.

It's all change at jazzy Adams Park

Taking shape: The Woodlands Stand awaits completion of the roof and installation of seats plus, of course, a lick of paint

DURING the close season Adams Park has been undergoing some major structural development, most notably the construction of the new 5,000-seater Woodlands Stand.

Together with the building of this new £2 million stand, the Amersham & Wycombe College Stand is being converted from terracing to seating.

This stand, which has been used by the away supporters for the past two years, had a capacity of 2,193 standing spectators but with the installation of seats, this will be reduced to 1,049.

The perimeter fence in front of the Amersham & Wycombe College Stand has been dismantled.

It will be re-positioned next to the first row of seats. The flat concrete area in front will be used as a walkway for the away fans in order for them to get to their seats.

There will be entrances in the fence at the front of each yellow gangway.

The new-style advertising boards will be positioned nearer the pitch.

Another development at Adams Park is the dismantling of the perimeter barrier in front of the new Woodlands Stand. This fencing will not be replaced.

future: The new stand will look the same as Burnley's

Peeking at progress

WYCOMBE Wanderers are inviting any member of the public to come and view their £2 million Woodlands Stand at Adams Park today.

The football club will be opening gate number one, which is by the commercial office, between 9.15am and 5.15pm.

The development, which has been under construction for more than three months, is on schedule for completion towards the middle of August.

The stand is due to open for Wanderers' first home Nationwide Football League Division Two match against newly-promoted Gillingham at Adams Park on Saturday, August 24.

Rest gets rid of old nags

CAPTAIN'S LOG
By Terry
Evans

I AM pleased to say that all my nagging injuries have cleared up, mainly due to plenty of work in the gym and having a rest which is impossible during a season.

I got away for a week in the sun in June and am now preparing to get down to some hard work ready for the new season.

Pre-season training will soon be upon us. It is best for each player to prepare himself before this starts. It may seem as if we have a great deal of time off to laze about, but if any players decide to do just that it will take a lot longer than until the start of the season to be fully match fit.

Work on the new stand looks to be on schedule and therefore it will be ready in time for the new season. Before work started, it was hard to imagine what it would look like even though drawings were published.

Now that it is taking shape, it is not surprising that plenty of season ticket seats have already been sold in what will be the best view in the ground.

My last article mentioned an invitation from chairman Ivor Beeks to ride in a charity race for High Wycombe Rotary Club around Wycombe.

I did know it was for a good cause and expected a leisurely ride around the 30-mile course, but when I arrived, hundreds of riders, many experienced, were limbering up ready for the start in what some looked on as a competitive race.

I do enjoy rising to a challenge. The taking part is of course very important as all participants of any age will know, especially when there is an opportunity to raise lots of money.

But as a professional athlete who, on the face of it, had a chance of winning and my sense of pride in representing the club, I wanted to win. It may be true that I am not ideally built for bike riding but this made no difference whatsoever.

Run ragged: Wycombe's players are looking forward to an intensive pre-season fitness programme to clear the cobwebs away

Players and new stand should be ready to roll

Nobody finished before me.

It was good to see when the new season's fixtures were released that we will be playing our last game of the campaign at home. For all sorts of reasons this is a bonus whoever we are playing.

Clearly we prepare for each game and look to win. If the game is important, to have our own crowd behind us could be crucial and it will be much better than a long trip up north to a club that may need a point to stay in the division.

Myself and a few lads took part in the preliminary coaching course which was held in Reading.

I was not too sure what to expect but Neil Smillie said I would be all right. Well I did manage to pass with flying colours but for any supporter who may feel that it might be a nice idea to take this, please think carefully.

I have worked within the football profession for many years and do know a great deal about the game and the coaching side but I can confirm that the course was a great deal more than I expected. It was tough at times but it was also both enjoyable and rewarding.

Man, you've gotta stand by this one

WYCOMBE Wanderers have released a new video called Stand By The Blues.

It is a record of Wanderers' third season in the Football League, and second in Division Two. It is a high-quality broadcast video, compiled by media professionals, which looks further behind the scenes at Adams Park than ever before. It also provides a diary of the development of the new Woodlands Stand.

There are highlights and goals from all home and away matches in Division Two, as well as all home and away goal highlights from the Coca-Cola Cup, FA Cup and Auto Windscreens Shield.

This outstanding video includes interviews with manager Alan Smith, assistant manager David Kemp, youth team manager Neil Smillie and chairman Ivor Beeks. It costs £14.99 and is available from Wanderers In Town from Monday to Saturday, between 9am and 5.30pm.

Be first in queue for club's history book

LIFELONG Wycombe Wanderers supporters Dave Finch and Steve Peart are releasing a comprehensive history book of the club's past.

The book, which will be published in conjunction with Middlesex-based Yore Publications, is expected to be available in late October/early November.

It is in hardback format and will be 256 pages long with sections detailing match statistics dating back to the club's first recognised match in 1887.

These include dates, opponents, results and goalscorers - where known - final league tables for every season from 1896, attendances where known, every team line-up from the 1963/64 to the 1995/96 season and details on all the major cup competitions such as the FA, FA Amateur and Berks and Bucks Senior.

There will be an abbreviated Who's Who section, with additional information about those players who have appeared in the Football League. The book features a substantial written history of the club from the beginning to the end of the 1995/96 season, supplemented with relevant illustrations.

Additional chapters include pieces on the match programmes over the years, personalities associated with the club, Lookes Park, and memorable matches.

Dave and Steve, who both write for the Wanderers programme, have been working on this project for the last three years.

The book will cost £16.95. For advanced paid orders, call into Wanderers In Town in the Octagon Shopping Centre or the commercial offices at Adams Park, or fill in the accompanying form.

Add £3.70 to have your copy posted on publication day.

Advanced subscribers will have their names printed at the back of the book at no extra cost.

THE BLUES NEWS

New look unveiled

Away: The yellow strip has changed to a red, white and blue design

Home: The old quartered squares are replaced with quartered stripes

WYCOMBE Wanderers will officially launch their new Mizuno home kit when they play Queens Park Rangers at Adams Park on Friday, July 26.

The Corner Flag club shop will be open from 6pm that night for sales of the new kit.

The new away strip will make its debut at a home game. Wycombe will play in the red, white and blue striped kit (pictured left) for the first time on Saturday, September 7 when Wycombe play Luton Town.

The Corner Flag club shop will be open from noon on that day.

Both strips will be worn during Blues' pre-season friendlies.

Prices have been frozen for the replica shorts and socks.
