

'Tester' in the league

THE longer the icy weather persists the better must be the chances of Wycombe winning the Servo Warm Isthmian League title.

A series of postponements could leave challengers Harrow, Dulwich and Slough with a fixture pile-up at the end of the season.

Wycombe, with only 11 more games to play, face one of those contenders tomorrow (Saturday) when they travel to Champion Hill to face Dulwich.

The South London club have been faltering of late — they lost at Bognor on Saturday. But they can still quite easily catch Wanderers, who do not often manage to win there.

Blues striker Terry Glynn is on the mend from his nagging foot injury but it will be at least another week before he returns to match action. Wycombe are taking no chances this time.
