Bromley do Blues a favour

WYCOMBE'S hopes of winning the Isthmian League championship for the first time in eight years, received a timely boost on Tuesday when closest rivals Leytonstone/Ilford could only draw 1-1 at Bromley.

The two points they dropped with this result means that they must win their last two games at Wokingham tomorrow (Saturday) and at Bognor Regis on May 11, if they are to pip waiting Wanderers.

Anything less and the Stones will fail to hold on to their title. The task facing Hayes, the only other possible champions, is even more daunting.

They must not only win their last three matches but do so with a goal difference of more than plus nine if they are to edge above the Blues.

Key game

The first of those games away to bottom club Leatherhead tomorrow could hold the key. They could quite easily notch up six goals in that game which would considerably ease their task for the two matches to follow.

These are at Tooting & Mitcham on Monday and at Bognor on May 9. So the Sussex sea-siders are having quite a say in the title race.

Of course if Wycombe had beaten — and not drawn with Barking in their last match, they would already be champions. But the prospects of their eventually being crowned look brighter than they did a week ago.
