

Licking the wounds

WYCOMBE, with no midweek game arranged, have a full week to lick their wounds after two recent defeats.

The free week will also give injury victims Jimmy Jacobs and Anton Vircavs time to recover before Saturday's home tussle with Bishop's Stortford.

Manager Mike Keen is hopeful that both men may be ready for a comeback as Blues seek to get back on the winning road. "The free week gives them more of a chance to be ready and I'm just waiting and hoping they will be fit," he said.

The Blues boss was far from pleased with the commitment of his players in the defeat at Hendon. "I thought we played well in the first half but after that too many players just didn't want to know," he commented. "Hendon looked a good side after the break but my players did not fight hard enough."

One small crumb of comfort for Wycombe was that they did not pick up any more injuries at Hendon and Mark Hill, who has been out for a few games with a blood clot in his calf, came through his comeback safely.
