

I HAVE been supporting Wycombe Wanderers for the past 35 years and I have seen good times and bad times.

Having just witnessed our performance at Bromsgrove, I felt it was time to put pen to paper to make my feelings known.

In my opinion there are three things wrong with the club at present.

Lack of ambition at the very top — I can remember very well Brian Lee's speech at the Bell House dinner after the Middlesbrough games and can only say that I have been patient long enough.

In an ideal world Mr Lee's words were perfect, but I'm afraid today only money will bring good players to any ambitious club.

Lack of fitness of the team — I, and surely others, have noticed that every team we play seems to be much quicker and fitter than we are, whether it be defenders, midfield players or forwards.

Team selection — we have some good players but we also have two or three that somenow get selected for the first team on their performances in the Sunday leagues.

I am not demanding any resignations or indeed expecting any, but surely the powers that be have been in the game long enough to know what the paying supporter would like to see, and are in a position to rectify matters if the desire is there.

I look forward, optimistically, to seeing a side built that will survive the current season and make the 84/85 season a great one.

We've been patient for 8 years, let's get cracking. —
