

Manager named soon?

BY the time Wycombe set off on tour to Malta their new manager will almost certainly have been appointed.

The Blues leave for a week on the sunshine island on May 26 and there are indications that the identity of the new man will be known before then.

The team will play two matches during their trip against top Maltese opposition.

The day after arriving they take on Hamrum Spartans and, the following Wednesday, they face Sliema Wanderers, veterans of a few European Cup campaigns. Both matches will be played at the Marsa Stadium.

On their return the club will be busy preparing for their centenary season.

Among the attractions will be a special match against a Division 1 side from the Football League who are also celebrating their centenary.
