

Horrific dream of one man

SPORTS MAIL

I THOUGHT your readers may be interested in the horrific dream I had the other night.

There I was, with several hundred others, at Burnham watching the Berks and Bucks Cup match against my team Wycombe Wanderers.

All I could see was the occasional flash of yellow coming towards the goal.

I stand behind hoping to see it pop in now and again.

But then I realised that this was our Centenary year and the players think you have to let in 100 goals.

Manager

I woke up saying "No, it's not true," but thankfully I fell asleep again and dreamed I was at Bracknell.

But I was the only supporter there and the manager came up to me and said "Hello Norman, good to see you're here. What do I have to do to get the others back?"

Of course I just stated the obvious by telling him to immediately relegate Bob Dell and Simon Pentland to the Reserves (preferably Marlow's), put Dave Burgess at left-back, Simon Read as substitute, bring in Kenny Wilson and Roger Moore with Declan Link and Steve Long up front and we may start scoring 100 goals, starting with half a dozen against Burton Albion.

I could feel myself getting excited but then I woke up screaming again when the manager said: "OK, but I'll have to ask Mr Lee first!" —
