

Marlow bite back!

SPORTS MAIL

I REFER to the letter in a recent Midweek Sports-mail in which Mr Smith relived his "horrific dream."

He referred to two Wycombe Wanderers players whom he thought should be "relegated to the Reserves (preferably Marlow's)."

This statement implies that Mr Smith feels these players should not be playing for Wycombe Wanderers at all, but would willingly wish them on what he considers to be a less fashionable and formidable club than his own.

I would point out to Mr Smith that, at Marlow FC, we recognise and develop talent in a professional and disciplined environment which will most certainly bring future success.

Therefore, by Mr Smith's yardstick, his suggested punishment would not fit the crime, as there could be far worse places for them to serve their sentence.

Now that you have woken up Mr Smith, would you please be kind enough to refer to Marlow Reserves any other players whom you feel might benefit from serving a similar sentence of exile, particularly if they are of the calibre of the two players mentioned.

We train Tuesdays and Thursdays, 7.30pm prompt.

P.S. Why not bring your boots and join in? You might sleep more soundly after a physical session!!
