

Declan's a mickey taker

By GRAHAM BAKER

THERE'S nothing quackers about Wycombe Wanderers striker Declan Link.

But he's packing in a secure job to take up a fairytale life in the land of Donald Duck and Mickey Mouse.

Link, the Gola League side's top scorer, aims to lead the FA Cup first round destruction of visiting Colchester tomorrow.

But if Wycombe go through to the second round he will be the missing link. By then his new life will have started in Florida.

"I've got a job in Disneyworld," said Link. "I've decided that banking is not for me."

The 21-year-old assistant manager of the Whitton branch of Barclays decided to make the break after visiting his brother George, who was working at Disneyworld last summer.

"He was there for a few months before starting at Oxford University," said Link. "Now I've decided to have some fun and sun for a year."

Wycombe manager Paul Bence, the former Brentford player, was shocked to hear of Link's decision.

"The fans think very highly of him and they are very disappointed," he said.

"But I told him to go and enjoy himself. He's young with no family or mortgage to worry about—so who can blame him?"

"There will always be a place for him if he wants to come back."
