Ashford plans early return

NON-LEAGUE by PAUL WALKER

NOEL ASHFORD is out to prove he has not made the biggest blunder of his Soccer career.

The England non-League striker quit Gola champions Enfield in a shock summer move to relegated Wycombe Wanderers, in an £8,000-plus deal that also included his international colleague Keith Barrett.

Ashford, 27, an East London school caretaker, said: "People have said it's a move I shouldn't have made, but after so much success with Enfield, there was little more to achieve.

"Now I've got a real challenge here. Wycombe have rebuilt their team with lots of youngsters, and there's plenty of potential."
