

Blues in a nose dive

By RUTH PAYNE

REALITY hit Wycombe Wanderers with a vengeance this week as they were first of all knocked out of the FA cup last Saturday by Aylebury Utd, (2-0) and then were slaughtered at the hands of Barnet on Tuesday evening losing 7-0.

Barnet fielded in their side Noel Ashford the former Blues maestro who joined the London side only a few weeks ago to further his ambition to play in the football league.

Barnet narrowly missed promotion to Division 4 last season after having led the GMVC League for much of the time, but on this showing they must be favourites to follow Scarborough into the football league this time around.

Wycombe were shown to be badly equipped for the GMVC league as they made more errors than a 5-year-old in a spelling test.

The Blues gambled in the close season by not making any "big name" signings and now having also lost Noel Ashford they may have to review the situation if the season is not to turn into a total disaster.

Saturday, the Blues are at home to Telford, kick off 3pm and next Wednesday, play away at Cheltenham Town, kick off 7.30pm.

●The players will hold their first disco tomorrow starting at 8pm. Tickets £1.50 available on the door.
