

Runs for cover

WYCOMBE Wanderers were without the services of 22-year-old striker Matthew Carmicheal last week as he was away playing in an Army tournament.

It seems quite appropriate that someone involved with the Army should be playing for The Blues.

After all, every other week there is a Battle of Loakes Park as they come under fire from their opponents' artillery. Wanderers display makes trench warfare seem like a Sunday afternoon stroll in the park.

If I were Carinichael, I'd opt to play for the Army anytime. It must be easier.