

'CHELSEA MOB' IN TERROR RAMPAGE

MINDLESS soccer thugs attacked two policemen as they rampaged through Wycombe on Saturday.

The pack who sport skinhead haircuts and wear Union Jacks, claim to be the local branch of The Chelsea Mob, a notorious private army of football hooligans.

Four people were injured including police officers as they tried to arrest the rowdy pack.

The thugs roamed Wycombe High Street pubs looking for trouble after they were continually refused drinks and turned away.

The 20-strong gang began their campaign of terror on Saturday afternoon just one day after Home Secretary Douglas Hurd spoke about racial harmony on his visit to Wycombe.

In a catalogue of violence that lasted into the evening the pack:

● CLASHED with a group of West Indians outside MacDonalds burger bar, severely hurting one youth who was pushed to the ground and kicked.

● INDECENTLY exposed themselves to young women customers at The Angel pub where they dropped their trousers and made rude gestures.

● BROKE windows and assaulted staff at The Antelope pub who tried to stop them entering and the other side of the door until police came. They were booting the door and smashing the windows to try and get in, but they ran off when they heard police were coming.

"They are just animals who should be locked up. It's been like this for five years now and we just hope the magistrates do their job and put a stop to this trouble."

● A Government report issued yesterday (Monday) warned of the spread of youth violence out of London to the small towns including High Wycombe.

● BATTLED with police outside the Flint Cottage pub in Amersham Hill where ten men were finally arrested.

No weapons were used in the brawl in which young policeman PC Paul Cronin was taken to Wycombe hospital after being punched in the eye, and Insp. Paul Jakes was kicked in the thigh.

Pub manager at The Antelope, Bob Simpson was hit in the face as he tried to block the thugs from entering.

He told Midweek: "We managed to keep them on
