

Star striker gets semi-final boost

FA TROPHY semi-finalists Wycombe received the perfect fillip for their Wembley ambitions yesterday when Mark West came through his exploratory operation to good news.

West, who has only played just 90 minutes of Blues' last five games, has been troubled by tissue at the back of the knee.

But there is no cartilage problem, and the 34-goal striker should be fit in time for the first leg against Altrincham (which is not all-ticket).

Andy Kerr, starting a fourth suspension of the season, is also out of tomorrow's squad for the Conference visit to Barrow.

Martin O'Neill pronounced: "Everybody's in contention. We do have a few bodies around now and there were a lot of tired limbs on Tuesday night."

Matt Crossley, David Scope, Steve Walford and Matt Hanlan are in O'Neill's squad as Blues face four games in eight days.

Colchester visit Adams Park on Monday night (ko 7.30pm), before Blues set off for Welling (Thursday, ko 7.30pm) and Sutton (Saturday 30th) next week.
