

Time to pass it

THIS week should finally see the result of the Wycombe Wanderers' planning application for a training pitch.

It is the one goal, apart from league status, that has eluded them in a magnificent season in which the whole town got behind the team.

We urge the planning councillors to remember the scenes outside the town hall on the Sunday after the Blues won the FA Trophy. Thousands chanted 'We want our training pitch'.

Those who heard it cannot be in any doubt that the majority of the community wants the training pitch. It will be an asset to all of us, not just the club. It is an investment in the future for so many of our children.

So it is time the council got off its backside and gave the Blues the pass it deserves to hammer home another memorable victory.
