

Blues chairman hands over awards

POTENTIAL Wycombe Wanderers players of the future met up with their current heroes at an awards evening held in the Vere Suite at Adams Park last Thursday evening.

The Blues' chairman Ivor Beeks handed out the awards to 250 young soccer players who participated in the Wycombe Wanderers/FA soccer star courses over the summer.

Each participating youngster was given a club badge, an England poster, a certificate of achievement and a season's pass to all Adams Park reserve and youth team games.

Jim Melvin, who has coordinated the Wanderers in the Community programme, was delighted with the evening which capped the successful relaunch of the coaching schedules.

Melvin said: "It was a smashing evening for the kids. We had about 400 people down there.

"The youngsters got the awards from either the chairman or the players who helped coach them over the summer."
