

Show flat opens in boot studs of Blues' players

DEVELOPER Michael Shanly is hoping the excited roar of the crowd will be heard once more at Loakes Park this weekend.

He is kicking off the sales campaign with the opening of a furnished show flat today in one of the apartment blocks he is building on the old Wycombe Wanderers' ground in Queen Alexandra Road.

The one and two-bedroom flats on the Beaconsfield firm's Alexandra Park development are two minutes' walk from the town centre.

Prices start at around £50,000.

●Banner Homes, the other local building company that has pressed on with new sites despite the recession, has started work on a development of two, three and four-bedroom houses behind Wycombe Hills Squash Club at Totteridge.

The first phase of two and three-bedroom homes will be released shortly, ahead of the showhouse due to open in March next year. The design for the three-bedroom house at Kingswood Gate off Turners Drive at Totteridge will be a replica of the showhouse on the new Banner development in Lane End.

An artist's impression of the Michael Shanly development at Loakes Park, the Blues' old ground