Joy as Blues reach the FA Trophy final

WONDERFUL Wycombe Wanderers are back at Wembley – and can complete the non-League double by clinching promotion to the Football League this week.

Tribulant Blues won 4-0 at Sutton on Saturday to earn their second FA Trophy Final within three seasons. They will play Runcorn at the national stadium on Sunday May 9.

Now the 2,500 Blues fans who danced and sang on the Sutton pitch immediately after the cup semi-final success could continue the celebrations in the league game at Slough tonight or at home to Runcorn on Thursday.

Wanderers took 25,000 supporters to Wembley when they won the Trophy in 1991. An emotional chairman Ivor Beeks told Midweek on Saturday, amid the rapidly-emptying champagne bottles in the Blues dressing room: "The whole of Wycombe will go to Wembley – and hopefully we can do the rest of the job this coming week."

Martin O'Neill's team will effectively win the GM Vauxhall Conference championship if they beat their nearest rivals Slough tonight. If not, they have two more home games this week to make sure of a place in the Third Division.

Wanderers' celebrations at winning their league and reaching Wembley come within 12 months of agonisingly missing promotion to the Football League, on goal difference, after they finished second with a record 94 points.
