

Wycombe open new town centre shop

WYCOMBE Wanderers are branching out with a new shop selling club merchandise which is in great demand.

Wanderers In Town, opposite Littlewoods in the Octagon Shopping Centre, will be opened by Martin O'Neill and the players on Monday at 4pm.

"We hope it will do well for us," said promotions manager Mike Phillips this week.

Langford returns to action after hernia

TIM Langford came through 30 minutes of Wednesday's Capital League match against Cambridge United in fine form.

The striker is edging his way back to full fitness after a hernia operation in September.

Wycombe's reserves failed to avenge their opponents' 7-3 victory in last week's President's Cup, losing 2-1.

Wicks waxes lyrical about O'Neill's men

SCARBOROUGH boss and former Blues player Steve Wicks was highly impressed with Wycombe's performance against his men at Adams Park on Tuesday.

"They were far better than anything I have seen in Division Three so far," said Wicks following his second game in charge, after replacing Phil Chambers two weeks ago.

"They got a couple of early goals which certainly knocked us out of our stride.

"We were naive today, while they were superb.

"To give them credit they just bombarded us and we sank, and sank and sank," he said.

at Wanderers since his short stay at the club at the beginning of the 1989/90 season under Jim Kelman.

"Loakes Park was an odd ground. I always thought I should have one leg two inches shorter than the other for that sloping pitch."

Ambition

He added: "There was always driving ambition in the football club.

"And the one thing I will say is that I think there is no one who comes here who does not hope that Wycombe do their very best in the Football League."

Youngsters encouraged to play

MINI-SOCCER

WYCOMBE Wanderers and Wycombe District Council launched their FA-licensed mini-soccer centre on Wednesday at Adams Park.

The scheme is open to all youngsters aged under 11 for one hour's play every week at a minimum charge.

"It is for everybody, not just those who can play," said Jim Melvin, Wanderers' youth coach and community development officer.

Mini-soccer is designed to meet the needs of children who want to play football.

Children, who gain a better understanding of the game, benefit from more touches of the ball and increased opportunities to play.

Venues and fees have not yet been set. For further information contact Jim Melvin on (0494) 472100.

Question time for Blues pair

MARTIN O'Neill and Wanderers chairman Ivor Beeks will be answering queries on all and sundry about Wycombe at a special forum in two weeks.

The Q and A session takes place in the Vere Suite at Adams Park on Thursday, November 18, at 8pm.

Free

The evening is free for Leagueline members, but costs £3 for non-members. Tickets are selling out fast.
