

Blues set the ball rolling for possible derby

WANDERERS' FA Cup second-round tie will be all-ticket if they play Reading at Adams Park on Saturday, December 4 (ko 3pm), but not if they meet Cambridge United.

Blues beat Bristol Rovers 2-1 on Sunday to earn their place in Monday's draw. The first-round replay between the two Second Division clubs takes place this Wednesday at Elm Park, with arrangements for an all-ticket match, should Reading win, set in motion the next day.

Season ticket holders, both seated and standing, and full Leagueline members must claim their tickets from

FA CUP special
By CLAIRE
NASH

Wycombe's commercial office at Adams Park between the following dates and times.

- Thursday, November 25: 9am until 7.30pm
- Friday, November 26: 9am until 5.30pm
- Saturday, November 27: 10am until noon

The balance of the tickets, including the family stand, will be on general sale on a one-for-one basis on Sunday, November 28: 10am until 1pm.

Any remaining tickets will be on sale during normal office hours from the commercial office, or the clubshop in High Wycombe's Octagon Shopping Centre. Terrace tickets are only available for the Bucks Free Press stand or the Davenport Vernon Vauxhall stand.

These arrangements will not be in place if Wycombe play Cambridge, but seat season ticket holders must claim their tickets before the date of the match.

Cambridge boss Gary Johnson has vowed that his players will upset hopes for a juicy derby between the Buckinghamshire and Berkshire sides.

"We will only start thinking about Wycombe after beating Reading, but the draw is there. We would look forward to playing at Wycombe's nice ground. They are now an established League side and are almost giants themselves now," he said.

Mid-table United have a rich recent tradition in the competition, beating Oldham, Wolves, Millwall and Sheffield Wednesday during good runs to the sixth round in 1990 and 1991.

They drew 0-0 at home to Reading last Saturday when the visitors should have turned pressure into goals.

● FA Cup reports and pictures: Pages 24 and 25

Blues boss asks for more goal joy from his players

MARTIN O'Neill has told his players to congratulate each other more after scoring goals because they have been too conscientious to do so in the past.

Dave Carroll let slip his boss's chiding that they do not celebrate enough, after scoring Wycombe's winning goal against Bristol Rovers on Sunday.

He waved two fingers, one on each hand, up and down to beckon the players to him after wheeling round from his 78th-minute strike. "Martin told us that we are not celebrating goals properly, so I called them over," said Carroll.

His Wanderers colleagues duly heartily hugged and thumped him on the back.

"What you work for all week is to get a goal. While I do not want over-elaborate celebrations, all I was saying is that when somebody scores a goal the players should all go over and congratulate that person," explained O'Neill.

"Often some players are tired and want to get back to their positions."