

Cheer up and sing the Blues

AS this promises to be a sunny bank holiday why not make a good day out and travel to Blackpool.

First you can have a paddle with a candy floss in your hand, then liquid lunch or otherwise and round it all off by watching the Blues win.

The more support we get the more chance of winning we've got. So don't start to get on the players backs and shout them down, it is encouragement they need not criticism and it is clearly early days yet with a long way to go.

We read with great interest that the club has put in a planning application for another club shop at Adams Park.

As far as those who stand behind the terrace are concerned this will be very welcome, the little cubby hole at the moment gets very busy. If I see it is packed out I don't bother to go in.

The Blues are holding their own Forum with as many of the club officials as possible in the Vere Suite on September 11.

So far we have press ganged Richard Hill, Neil Smillie, Dave Jones, Alan Hutchinson and chairman Ivor Beeks, and as many players that are allowed out on that night.

Please come along and put your questions and do your bit for the club by having a drink as well.
