

Your club needs you at Adams Park

BOARDROOM BANTER

TOMORROW'S local derby kicks off our most important month of the season – and we need your help.

In the space of the next four weeks we have home games against Reading (tomorrow), Manchester City and Stoke City. We also face our opening tie in this season's FA Cup.

To say that these matches are important is a massive understatement. On the field they will shape the rest of our season. Off it, they will shape our immediate future.

We need points and we also need pounds. Good displays by the team and big crowds at Adams Park will prove that the town can sustain a successful Football League club.

It's no secret that finance is the biggest problem we face. Because of our unique constitution the only way we can raise money is through the turnstiles.

It's vital that our three biggest league games of the season attract good attendances. It's important that the FA Cup provides us with much needed revenue.

Every penny we earn at Wycombe Wanderers is spent on improving the playing squad and making the stadium safer and more comfortable. But to make progress we need your support.

If you've never been to Adams Park before – or if you've got out of the habit – come along and see what you are missing.

Okay, we made an awful start, but things have improved dramatically. Three successive clean sheets and seven points out of nine gives us the best current record in Division Two.

I honestly believe that the next month could be the start of a new era for Wycombe Wanderers – why not be part of it?

Norway for striker Jarle

NORWEGIAN striker Jarle Wee will not be staying at Adams Park.

Blues boss Neil Smillie decided that the 26-year-old Viking who played in the reserves' 1-0 defeat at Ipswich on Wednesday is no better than what he has already got.

Wee was recommended to Wanderers by a Norwegian football agent who was so confident that his player would make the grade that he paid for his trip to Adams Park.

Wee plays for Haugesund who were relegated from Norway's top division last Sunday.

He had Wanderers' best chance as they went down to a 49th minute goal at Portman Road but he headed wide after Gary Wraight's cross had spun free.

The reserves are next in action at Adams Park on Wednesday, when they take on Brentford.

The match kicks off at 2pm and admission is £3 adults or £1 concessions.

Meanwhile, Gary Goodchild's high flying juniors are in action tomorrow morning when they entertain Bristol Rovers at Molins (ko 11am).
