

...AND INTRODUCING BIG CHIEF SITTING BALL!

INDIAN SIGNING . . . Wycombe pose for their official team line-up with their lucky mascot — a 5ft wooden Indian chief. It was bought by assistant boss Terry Gibson after the players saw it on their way to the final game of last season, which they won at Lincoln to avoid relegation from Division Two. Full story — Page 64.

WYCOMBE ON RED ALERT

WYCOMBE WANDERERS are going on the warpath after revealing their latest star signing — a Red Indian chief.

The 5ft wooden warrior was even allowed to pose with his new team-mates in the club's official photo.

The new mascot is called Comanche and he is a firm favourite with football's new Crazy Gang being assembled at

EXCLUSIVE by ANDREW DILLON

Adams Park by former Wimbledon duo Terry Gibson and big chief Lawrie Sanchez.

Assistant boss Gibson said: "Comanche is part of a long-running joke here and is definitely one of the boys. Now we are Red Indian crazy."

Joker Gibson made Comanche his first big scalp for Wigwam — sorry Wycombe — after spotting him on the way to a crucial away match last season.

He explained: "We had to win at Lincoln on the last day to stay in Division Two. The mood on the bus was nervy until we spotted old Comanche outside a craft shop on a by-road.

"We all roared with laughter and knew it had to be a good omen. He had better bring us more luck or he's firewood!