Stop moaning about the money Sanchez

I DON'T know about other Wanderers fans, but I am getting fed up listening to Lawrie Sanchez complaining about lack of money.

Does he not think that almost every club in Division Two and Three are not suffering from the same problem, and pointing out the exceptions like Preston and Wigan is simply not relevant.

We had to put up with his constant moaning about attendances earlier in the season, then the relocating to Milton Keynes nonsense, what will be next?

Well, in last week's Bucks Free Press we did have a new complaint. Mr Sanchez said that we are playing so many games that some of the players were not able to train between matches!

Well it seems to me that we have played an average of not much more than one game per week, hardly any evening matches, whereas when we were a part-time club, we certainly played more matches, and held down full time jobs!

If the players are not training between games, perhaps that explains why the quality of passing, ball control and general understanding seems so poor.

When Lawrie Sanchez came to the club, he knew the financial situation, he knew what the attendances were like, so he should just get on with it, make the best of the resources he has, and use his undoubted ability to scour for talent within his budget.

He did a tremendous job reducing the wage bill, and therefore I am sure he has some scope there.

As for the current discussion of changing the constitution, Mr Sanchez should stay out of that discussion, we have to secure the future of this club for future generations, and cannot afford a make or break dash for Division One.

To end on a positive note, I would like to congratulate Lawrie on achieving a mid-table position, which is a tremendous achievement with the quality of squad that he has at his disposal.
