

Back in the spotlight: Saturday's postponement has given Andy Rammell more time to recover from his injury

York or Grimsby is the prize awaiting tonight's winners

WANDERERS will be away to York or Grimsby in the fourth round of the FA Cup if they overcome Premiership side Fulham in tonight's re-arranged third round tie.

The Blues beat first division Grimsby Town 3-1 in a third round replay at Blundell Park last season en-route to the semi-finals and they also have the upper hand against York.

Wanderers sent the Minstermen down to the third division three seasons ago when their 1-0 victory at Lincoln relegated them instead of Wycombe.

Boss Lawrie Sanchez is happy with the draw.

He told the club's Ringing The Blues information line: "It's a tie that if we do get past Fulham we can get through but let's not forget we have got a Premiership side to beat first and not too many Premiership sides got beaten at the weekend."

But Saturday's postponement has helped the Blues, giving Andy Rammell and Paul McCarthy three extra days to get over their injuries, although both would have played on Saturday.
