

Blues boss rules out new signings

LAWRIE Sanchez has ruled out making any new signings this season.

The Blues boss says he won't get involved in the traditional rush to beat the March 27 transfer deadline.

Sanchez, who has spent £300,000 this season on Darren Currie and Stuart Roberts, has decided to wait until the summer before wheeling and dealing and will now calmly weigh up his options as he bids to bring in three or four fresh faces for next season.

He said: "We will work with what we have got now."

Tuesday's 4-2 defeat at home to Huddersfield effectively extinguished Wycombe's play-off hopes and Sanchez is determined to carry out major surgery to his squad in the summer by building a squad which will be capable of mounting a stronger challenge next season.

A striker is on the top of his summer shopping list.

He said: "I want to have three people at the club next season who I can guarantee will get into double figures."

Sanchez did try and bolster his front line last month in a desperate last push to stay up there with the play-off contenders.

He agreed a loan deal with Wolves to bring their out-of-favour Belgian striker Cedric Roussel to Adams Park but the former Coventry City frontman preferred to slug it out in the reserves at Molineux instead.
