

Handy Andy set for Blues debut

Andy Thomson

NEW signing Andy Thomson is in line to make his Wycombe Wanderers debut at Northampton Town tomorrow.

The 28-year-old former Bristol Rovers central defender signed on a free transfer on Deadline Day but arrived with a hamstring strain and was ruled out of the Bank Holiday matches against Peterborough United and Tranmere Rovers.

But the former Swindon and Portsmouth stopper trained with his new team-mates for the first time yesterday and is in contention to make his Blues debut in the Sixfields clash.

Wanderers boss Lawrie Sanchez tried to buy Thomson last summer but was quoted £50,000 by the westcountry side, who were forced to let him go on a free now because he is available on a Bosman in the summer.

He said: "I'm hoping we can see Andy at Northampton. He's one we've been after for some time but we won't be taking any risks with him. If he's not fit we won't play him. There's no point in bringing him in too soon and him picking up another injury."

Sanchez takes his team to Northamptonshire determined to build on last Monday's 2-1 win over Tranmere.

He said: "We've got three games left and I want to win them all.

"We've had a pretty horrendous time since we lost at home to Blackpool on February 19.

"We've been short of wins and I want to finish the season on a high note."
