

Wanderers hunt their own Lord Lucan

WANDERERS have called on the fans for help to track down their own Lord Lucan.

The Blues are trying to track down Glynn Creaser as they bid to reunite the squad which won promotion to the Football League at a tenth anniversary dinner with the fans and former boss Martin O'Neill at Adams Park on May 23.

Celtic boss O'Neill and several members of the squad have already confirmed their attendance, but the club have drawn a blank in their attempts to trace Creaser.

This event will be aimed at supporters rather than at the corporate brigade with tickets costing £35 per head including a three course meal.

Officials back the Blues

WYCOMBE Wanderers Official Supporters Club will sponsor the Blues' Football in the Community Scheme for the next three years.

The supporters' club has pledged £6,000 in total to the worthwhile cause.

WWISC will also present a trophy to the club's Young Player of the Year at tomorrow's match at home to Cheltenham Town for the first time.
