

US BOUND: George Borg

Summer coaching American students for Borg

SOME of America's most promising young footballers are about to get the George Borg treatment.

The controversial coach is set to get over the disappointment of failing to save Boreham Wood from dropping out of the Ryman Premier by jetting out to New York to take charge of the USA Colleges' Under-19 squad and prepare them for an international tournament against Mexico, Paraguay and Canada.

Borg, who had only half a dozen games to rescue the Hertfordshire outfit after answering an SOS from chairman Danny Hunter, flies to America at the beginning of next month – when he will also consider an offer to lead Boreham Wood's bid to bounce straight back up.

The former Aldershot and Billericay coach is no stranger to America after playing there in the 1980s for teams managed by Rodney Marsh and Bobby Moore. He expects to remain until late July.

"I have kept in touch with the people over there and when one of the agents asked me if I would like to go out and help the colleges, I jumped at the opportunity," he said.
