

Lee could be a Viking

MARTYN Lee will try and relaunch his career with crack Norwegian outfit Viking Stavanger.

The 22-year-old midfielder was released by Wycombe Wanderers last week and will now link up with his former youth team coach Gary Goodchild in Stavanger.

Lee will fly out with girlfriend Harriet today and watch the Vikings top-of-the-table clash against Rosenborg, before training with them and hoping to thrash out a deal.

He said: "I'm excited about it. Their skipper, who plays in central midfield, has done his cruciate and Gary phoned me straight away."

The Norwegian season has only just started and Lee can't wait to get out there.

Ironically the Vikings tried to sign Lee on loan once before.

He said: "I played there with Wanderers' youth team and it was great. You get so much time."
