

Flatmates double red card blow

FLATMATES Stuart Roberts and Roger Johnson were sent off within three minutes of each other in injury-time as Wanderers' disciplinary problems flared up again.

Roberts was red-carded just 180 seconds after coming onto the field for a bad challenge and then Johnson followed three minutes later after his second bookable offence.

Roberts said: "Our house was very muted that night. We were both really disappointed."

But Robbo had no argument.

He said: "It was a shocking tackle and I've got no complaints. I was protecting myself a bit and went over the top. I knew I was off."

"I'm very disappointed. It is my first red card."

Roberts will now receive a three-match ban starting in a fortnight.

Johnson was sent off for bringing down a United attacker when he was the last man after he had earlier been booked for dissent.

He said: "My first booking was silly and I thought I was unlucky with the second."

"It wasn't a good night for our house and it won't happen again."

Going off: Roger Johnson gets the first of his two bookings
