

McGhee would interest us says Beeks

WYCOMBE Wanderers chairman Ivor Beeks says he would be interested in talking to axed Millwall boss Mark McGhee as he hunts The Chairboys' new manager.

McGhee, the former Leicester City, Wolverhampton Wanderers and Reading boss, was surprisingly sacked by Millwall on Tuesday despite the South London outfit being eighth in the Division One table.

Beeks said: "I would be interested in speaking to him. My guess is that he might even ring us.

"His record in Division Two is excellent. He got Millwall promoted and he has done very well in Division One."

But Beeks has also been very impressed with interim boss John Gorman, who he drafted in on a one-month caretaker/trial basis to take the reins in the wake of Lawrie

Sanchez's sacking.

Gorman has been described as a breath of fresh air by club insiders and has so far won one, drawn one and lost one.

Beeks said: "He's made a good first impression with everyone at the club and the players like his approach to training. But the jury is still out. He's got a job to do and he's in the same position as everyone else.

But Beeks insisted there are no favourites at this stage although he has confirmed that a manager with Football League experience fits his profile at the moment with Wanderers rooted to the second-from-bottom spot in the table having equalled their worst ever run of 12 league without a win with Saturday's 3-1 defeat at Luton.

He said: "Where we are at the moment I think we need someone whose got some experience of League management."

The chairman has been bowled over by the quality of some of the 60 applicants so far.

He said: "I'm absolutely amazed at some of the people who want to to come to us and we've started looking at the pile with a view to setting up interviews."

Gorman's month ends on November 1 after the game against his old club Swindon and Wanderers hope to make an announcement soon afterwards.

Beeks confirmed that interviews will be held with other candidates while Gorman tries to stake his own claim by turning Wanderers' fortunes around on the pitch.
