

Blues we can afford the boss

WANDERERS acting chief executive Rod Tomlin has moved to reassure fans that they can afford their new management team of Tony Adams and John Gorman.

Tomlin told the Free Press: "Money wasn't the motivating factor for him. He is much more excited by the challenge and the opportunity to start his management career."

The Free Press understands that Adams' two-and-a-half year package is significantly lower than they were paying previous boss Lawrie Sanchez.

Blues are still in negotiations with Sanchez over a severance package for the remaining 18 months of his contract.

Wanderers now have a big managerial complement on the payroll, with Adams and Gorman joining Sanchez's former assistant Terry Gibson, whose new role has yet to be defined, and reserve team boss Peter Cawley.

Win with the Blues

FANS attending tomorrow's match against Swindon could win some fantastic Blues prizes.

A Wanderers shirt signed by new boss Tony Adams will go to the supporter who buys the matchday programme which has been signed by the former England and Arsenal star.

The lucky winner will be asked to produce the signed programme at the club's offices at the end of the match.

A signed Adams Arsenal shirt will also be up for grabs in the club's prize draw.

Win Adams prizes with the BFP

Look who is reading the Free Press now: Tony Adams catches up on the news of his arrival by reading Tuesday's Midweek

THE Free Press was among the first to tell the world that Tony Adams was the red hot favourite to land the Blues hotseat in Tuesday's Free Press Midweek. And now we have another fantastic first to offer our readers.

We are offering you the chance to win an official team sheet signed by Tony Adams.

The sheet will be from next week's match against Brentford when Adams will pick his first Blues squad.

The prize will also include his first set of programme notes which will also be signed and six top-class hospitality seats, complete with car parking and access to the players' areas for the match at home to The Bees next week.

All you have to do to win this fantastic prize is tell us how many full-time, not caretaker managers, Wycombe Wanderers have had in the Football League.

To win call our lucky line on 01494 755125 and the correct answers will be pulled from a hat. The closing date is 5pm on Wednesday