

Wanderers set to kick off discussion meetings with their supporters

WYCOMBE Wanderers stage the first of three meetings with their members tonight at which they will try and open the door for outside investors to join the club.

The board will suggest a wide range of ideas to bring an influx of cash on board and also ask the members for their views.

One of the ideas being considered is changing the constitution to enable cash backers to join the club.

The board will also discuss converting the current loan notes scheme into shares and expanding the loan notes scheme to bring more cash on board.

But it will not just be one-way traffic. The board are keen to hear ideas from fans as they look to inject cash into the club which remains bottom of the second division following Saturday's 2-2 draw at Chesterfield.

Director Rod Tomlin said: "As directors we have got some ideas but we are also interested in hearing from members who may have ideas. We haven't set a seal on going down any particular route at the moment. These meetings are designed to debate with members how we can take the club forward."

Tonight's meeting takes place in the Vere Suite at 7.30 with another one tomorrow and the last one on Monday.

● Wanderers have loaned Lewis Cook to Dr Martens League Weymouth. The wideman will stay with Steve Claridge's side for a month.

Meanwhile, two Wanderers players already out on loan had a good day on Saturday.

Mark Rogers scored Stevenage's winner in their 3-2 win over Gravesend while Gavin Holligan scored twice for Dr Martens League Crawley in a 4-2 success over Grantham.
