

Bomber's determined to get back

Looking to return: Richard Harris in action for Wycombe

RICHARD Harris is determined to win back his place in the Wanderers starting line-up after returning from his loan spell with Woking.

Harris admitted he was starting to miss his team-mates during his two months at the Cards and is desperate to secure a berth in the first team.

He said: "I've come back and it's been brilliant. Everyone is friends here and I love it."

"There's always been a good team spirit. That was the big thing I missed."

Harris is currently undergoing rehabilitation on a minor hamstring injury but he is hoping to be available for selection in a couple of weeks.

He said: "My aim is to get a regular place. It's all down to how hard I work. Hopefully I can impress that way."

"I really want to get back into the team, not on the sidelines."

Harris scored two goals in seven appearances for the Conference side and relished the opportunity to play football.

He said: "It was nice to play some first team football and get some games under my belt."

Despite being dogged by injuries last season, Harris managed to notch six goals from just a handful of starts.

He began this season as first choice striker and bagged two goals in the team's Carling Cup win over Wimbledon.

But Harris has been out of the team since September after another injury setback and the departure of Lawrie Sanchez.

He said: "When I was playing regularly I was so calm and relaxed. It was a weight off your shoulders. You would get changed straight away instead of waiting to see if you were on the bench."

Current boss Tony Adams is yet to pick Harris but the striker is determined to force his way into the manager's plans.

He said: "He [Adams] talked to me before I went and told me to get some games."

"We spoke the other day and he told me to get myself fit and we'll take it from there."
