

Chester thug hurls bottle at Adams

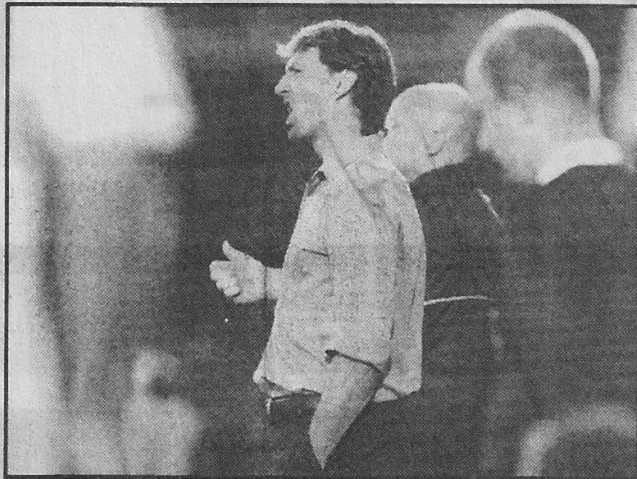

CHESTER City have promised an investigation after a bottle was thrown at Blues boss Tony Adams on Tuesday night.

The missile was hurled from the main stand after Wanderers went 2-0 ahead at The Deva Stadium.

The missile, which landed just in front of the away team dugout, missed Adams and his backroom staff and landed on the pitch.

A spokesman for the club said: "Any type of unruly behaviour we take seriously."

The club are now taking advice from the police and stewards.
