

Cawley charged by the Football Association

PETER Cawley has been charged by the Football Association after he was sent to the stands in Blues' 1-0 defeat at Darlington on Saturday.

The Wanderers assistant manager was ordered from the dugout for complaining at referee Paul Robinson's decision to award Darlington a controversial penalty and at his decision to turn down Wycombe appeals for a spot kick moments later.

He was charged this week with using abusive and insulting words aimed at an official.

Cawley said: "The decisions cost us the game. The referee said he was unsure about the penalty we felt we should have had and said he would have a lot at it on the video but that doesn't help us."

He has until November 16 to respond to the charge.

● Striker Ian Stonebridge says he is not worried about his goal drought after notching just one goal in 16 appearances since his summer switch from Plymouth.

He said: "Everyone knows that a striker thrives on scoring goals but I'm confident in my ability to score and I know that when I get one I will get more."

● Scouts from Premiership trio Birmingham, Blackburn and Bolton were among the crowd which saw Wanderers lose 1-0 at Darlington on Saturday.

Representatives from Championship side Nottingham Forest were also there to see Blues go down to a controversial Clive Wijnhard penalty.

● Wanderers will find out tomorrow morning who they will play in the Area Quarter Final of the LDV Vans Trophy. The draw will be made live on Sky Sports Soccer AM programme with the matches due to take place on the week commencing November 29.

● The Chairboys match away to Leyton Orient on November 20 is all-ticket for Chairboys fans. The allocation of 500 tickets is currently on sale at Wanderers in Town and from the commercial offices at Adams Park.

Sent to the stand: Pete Cawley gets his marching orders