

Free fun for everyone but Gorman will still hate it just like he hates every Saturday

WYCOMBE Wanderers have pushed the boat out to make tomorrow's first ever Fans-Free match a fun bonanza – but Blues boss John Gorman won't enjoy it.

He hates Saturdays like he hates every Saturday in the football season.

And no amount of face-painting, kiddies' marquees and free giveaways will change his opinion. It is the one day of the week when he loses control.

He said: "I love my job. I love the coaching. I love working with players. I love going to watch other games but I hate Saturday.

"It is the day when all your week's work can backfire or go wrong because of a deflection or something. There is such a fine line."

Whatever happens on the field though Wanderers are heading for a mega success off it as they bid to woo back the missing fans.

All 8,000 free tickets for the home sections of the ground were quickly snapped up, at an estimated cost of £15,000 to the club, while Chester are expecting to bring double their normal away following thanks to the lure of free tickets.

Chester City manager Ian Rush was delighted with the decision to let fans in for free.

He said: "It's something which I've not heard of. I think it's a fantastic gesture by Wycombe and it's fantastic for the local community."

And the fans will be richly entertained with the club laying on sideshows and attractions to make sure it goes off with a bang.

There will be a parade of ex-players, the matchball will be abseiled into the stadium providing the stadium roof passes a safety inspection, there will be giveaways for the fans, face painting and a half time display by the Royal Marines.

● Any supporter who has got one of the free tickets but is now unable to attend tomorrow's match (ko 3pm) should contact the club immediately as the Blues have a long list of people waiting for returns.
