

Viva Espana Blues are off to sunny Spain

BLUES will warm up for their big Easter promotion push by training in sunny Spain this week.

They will jet off on Sunday following tomorrow's clash at bottom-of-the-table Cambridge United and will return on Wednesday.

Assistant boss Steve Brown said: "We're going away for a couple of days training in the sun to get ready for the big Easter push.

"It will be a good break from the routine and will give the boys a bit of sun on their backs, and the chance to train a bit and relax a bit and get them ready for the two big Easter games."

And youth teamer Ikechi Anya will be joining them on the flight.

He earned his place on the trip with a sparkling performance in the reserves' Berks and Bucks Cup semi-final win at Milton Keynes in midweek.

Assistant boss Steve Brown said: "He can be as good as he wants to be. He is a good lad, a willing worker, he stays out and does extra by himself.

"He's got a great attitude and he's got loads of ability. He can be as big as he wants to be."

Meanwhile striker Nathan Tyson has called on the team to make sure the Spanish break does not turn into a wake.

He said: "It will be a much happier trip if we beat Cambridge on Saturday. That is the first thing we have got to do.

"Then we can go away to Spain together and prepare for the busy Easter games."

Blues entertain Northampton Town on Good Friday in a Quid-a-Kid match at Adams Park and then head off to Greater Manchester to take on Rochdale on Easter Monday.

Tyson said: "They are both going to be tough games because they are both going for the play-offs."

The Spanish trip has been funded by Wanderers' shirt sponsors Loans.co.uk.
