

Flashback: Northampton's Pedj Bojic is dismissed against Wycombe during their fiery league encounter in September

Seconds out as Wycombe hunt Cup knock-out

WANDERERS begin this season's FA Cup campaign with a heavyweight all-League Two bout at home to Northampton.

Tomorrow's clash comes with added spice after managers John Gorman and Colin Calderwood clashed following the feisty 1-1 league draw between the sides in September when Town's Pedj Bojic was sent off for an x-rated high tackle on Sergio Torres.

Then, Gorman blasted his pal's tactics, accusing the Cobblers boss of running "scared and slamming his team for their ultra-defensive show.

He said: "We play good football. It just annoys you that other teams don't come to win."

But Calderwood hit back, saying Gorman's description of the game was: "Arse about tit."

Gorman says the row is in the past but promised more fireworks on Bonfire Night.

He said: "We are good friends and you never want to lose to one of your friends."
