

Lambert signs Chelsea's Grant

Paul Lambert

WANDERERS boss Paul Lambert has made Chelsea teenager Anthony Grant his first loan signing.

The England U19 defensive midfielder has joined on a season-long loan and will play at the Recreation Ground tonight, when Blues take on Aldershot in a pre-season friendly.

Grant played against Wycombe for Chelsea in last season's friendly and has made one other appearance for the Premiership champions' first team.

The new recruit joins Lambert's new signings Chris Palmer and Sam Stockley at Adams Park and more could be on the way.

Lambert will use tonight's match to again run the rule over his trio of triallists.

Ex-Torquay United defender James Sharp, Hibernian midfielder Antonio Murray and released Bournemouth defender Jason Tindall will all feature and are expected to get 60 minutes each to give Lambert ample opportunity to decide their future over the weekend.

He has already binned former Middlesbrough and Cardiff £1million man Andy Campbell and says the search for new players goes on.
