OUT AND OUT

No way through: Wasps and Wycombe Wanderers found their route to the play-offs well and truly blocked as they both suffered disappointment on Saturday afternoon

WASPS and Wanderers saw their play-off hopes come to an end on Saturday as both suffered defeats on a bad weekend for South Bucks sport.

Wasps crashed 40-26 in a Heineken Cup Final dress rehearsal against Leicester Tigers at Welford Road despite leading at one stage.

But the Men in Black could not keep it going as their miserable record of never having won in the league at Leicester continued to leave them one place short of qualification.

It means Ian McGeechan's team won't take part in the championship play-off drama for the first time since the play-offs were introduced.

And it was a similar story at Adams Park where landlords Wycombe Wanderers saw their slender hopes of making the League Two play-offs finally come to an end.

They lost 2-0 at home to MK Dons and had striker Jermaine Easter and assistant manager Steve Brown sent off in the first ever Adams Park Buckinghamshire league derby.

And completing a hat-trick of play-off misses were Marlow.

They slipped out of the British Gas Southern League play-off zone after going down 3-1 at Winchester City.
