

Church on target

WANDERERS boss Peter Taylor reckons he has pulled off a major coup in recapturing Reading striker Simon Church on loan.

Blues have signed the Welsh U21 international, who was being watched by Portsmouth at Barnet on Tuesday night, until December 20.

The 19-year-old probably could have had his pick of clubs after scoring three times for Wales U21s in their two-legged European Championship play-off against England but he chose to return to Wycombe where he had earlier had a spell on loan before it was cut short by suspension.

Taylor said: "I'm sure there were several clubs who would have wanted him. But we've got him and I'm delighted about that. He could be playing in the Championship. He's looked very lively and he will get goals for us."

Hard work for Matt

BLUES' fitness team say they can make £10,000 striker Matt Harrold even better.

They are working to improve his sprinting and speed.

Manager Peter Taylor said: "We're doing a lot of work with him. He hadn't played a lot of football before he came to us.

"I'm very pleased with him so far, he does a lot for the team but he is going to get even better for us."

Antwi steps it up

DEFENDER Will Antwi is knocking on the door of a return to action.

The former Aldershot centre half has emerged unscathed from training this week after his broken toe and is now being considered for a game in the reserves.

Away to Stoke

WANDERERS will train at Stoke City today en-route to tomorrow's match at Accrington. Boss Peter Taylor wanted to break up their long journey north as he is expecting heavier than normal M6 traffic due to the half term holidays.

FA Cup draw

WANDERERS will find out on Sunday lunchtime who their FA Cup first round opponents will be.

The draw for the first round is being made on ITV.
