

Hatters game moved

WANDERERS' match at Luton on Saturday, April 4 will have to be moved after the Hatters won their way through to the Johnstone's Paint Trophy Final at Wembley the same weekend.

Blues boss Peter Taylor is happy at the change because it means his team will be fresh to visit promotion rivals Darlington in another rescheduled game on Tuesday, April 7.

Leon loan extended

EBBSFLEET have extended the loan of Wanderers' defender Leon Crooks for a second month.

Scott beat himself up

BOSS Peter Taylor has explained his decision to re-instate Jamie Young in goal on Tuesday in place of Scott Shearer.

He said: "Scott is sometimes too hard on himself. He beats himself up and he has looked sometimes a bit more tense than I would like.

"But he's done nothing wrong and he took it very well helping Jamie with his preparation. I'm lucky to have two good experienced keepers."

Zebs fined after red

STRIKER Chris Zebroski is out of Monday's live-on-Sky match at home to Rotherham.

He is serving the second game of his three-match ban following his red card for his horribly-high boot in the face of Bradford's Matt Clarke.

Boss Peter Taylor accepted the challenge was foolish but not malicious but has still hit him with a club fine.

He said: "He will be fined because he is no good to me now for three matches. If players are injured that's fine but if they can't play because they have been sent off for silly challenges they get fined."

Scott can play a part

SCOTT McGleish can still play a part in Wanderers' promotion bid despite the arrival of Weymouth hitman Stuart Beavon.

McGleish is currently on loan at Orient but Taylor can recall him after 28 days.

Taylor said: "Scott's Wycombe career isn't over by any means. He could still have a big part to play."

Marlow in the semis

THE reserves breezed through to the semi-finals of the Berks and Bucks Cup with a 4-0 win over Didcot Town.

The youthful Blues, whose oldest player on the night was 20-year-old Robbie Rice, secured their passage with a Callum Botham double allied to strikes from Dan Fitchett and Matt Richards.
