WANDERERS face a High Court hearing on Monday over an outstanding tax bill, but it's understood it will be a formality.

Blues were issued with a winding up petition by HMRC earlier this year.

At the time chairman Don Woodward said: "I'm confident we'll get through things and raise the funds we'll require.

"We won't go to the hearing. We'll sort things out before."

10.30am in the Chancery Division of the High Court.

They had hoped to secure £350,000 from the sale of its training ground to help plug their financial hole

But that deal hasn't been finalised yet, although it is expected to go through next week.

Wycombe Wanderers Trust

chairman Trevor Stroud said: "It's progressing and it should be completed within the next week or so. It's with both sides' lawyers and is progressing to plan.

"We need to make sure there's due diligence. There's nothing untoward, it's all part of legal procedures.

"Everything's on plan and I've got no reason to suspect it won't go through as we intended by the end of next week."
