Origin Global have stepped up their presence at Adams Park by sponsoring a brand new tunnel, which was installed at the stadium earlier this week.

Completing the suite of Origin Global branding around the tunnel area and press box, the new installation marks the latest development in the partnership between the club and its next-door neighbours on Hillbottom Road, who have also recently opened a new showroom in Cressex.

Wanderers' general manager Michael Davies said: "Origin are one of our closest partners and we're thrilled that they've increased their level of commitment to the club by sponsoring the new tunnel. It looks incredibly smart and is a fresh new addition to Adams Park as we prepare the stadium for life in League 1."

Ben Brocklesby, sales and marketing director at Origin Global, said: "We're extremely proud of our partnership with the club and were delighted to see them achieve their goal of winning promotion to League 1. We're really pleased to see the new tunnel in place and to see our brand on both sides of stadium, having sponsored the Family Stand for four years."
