

Join Rob for the Ashes Breakfast on Saturday!

Caledonian Suite to open at 10.30am on Saturday.

Rob Couhig invites Chairboys fans to arrive early at Adams Park for Saturday's League 1 fixture against Southend United, to enjoy an Ashes Breakfast from 10.30am.

England and Australia will be embroiled in day three of the test match at Headingley, and the action will be shown on the TVs around the room, with bacon rolls, pastries, tea and coffee available to purchase.

Rob is flying back over from the States to be at Adams Park for the weekend, and said: "We're all really excited to open the doors to Adams Park for another matchday and we'd love fans to join us early, and stay late, to help us make it another special occasion and hopefully play their part in getting another three points for the Wanderers.

"I'm still learning the rules of cricket and I'm looking forward to watching the Ashes with fellow Wanderers fans who I'm sure can teach me a thing or two!

"With the Ashes breakfast, the new Chairboys Village and a team that's won both its home games so far in the league in some style, it's looking like being a great day out and I can't wait to meet as many supporters as possible around Adams Park."

Fans arriving early to watch the cricket can park for free in the upper tier of the car park until 11am; the Adams Park gates and Caledonian Suite will open at 10.30am (no charge for lounge access). Please note there is no parking available on the lower tier.

The live Premier League matches (Norwich vs Chelsea at 12.30pm, and Liverpool vs Arsenal at 5.30pm) will be shown on alternate screens around the room, with the cricket being displayed on the other half.
