

250 tiles sold on Wanderer Wall!

New visual display at Adams Park is taking shape!

Half of the 500 available tiles on the new Wanderer Wall at Adams Park have already been purchased in the first priority booking window, with all season ticket holders now able to buy theirs.

The Wall was launched last week, with priority booking given to those season ticket holders who registered interest in advance.

Manager Gareth Ainsworth has ordered his tile, which will be displayed with hundreds of others on the Wanderer Wall outside the Players' Entrance at the stadium.

Public sale begins on May 1st.

So, what's it all about?

You can buy a tile (or as many as you like) for £60 each, or choose the option to buy the tile plus a replica delivered to your home for £95. There's also a chance to buy a voucher, so that you can gift it to a friend but give them the choice of when to redeem it and what message they'd like to have engraved on the tile.

Tiles are 15x15cm, and you can choose a message of up to three lines long, 20 characters per line (including spaces and punctuation). They will be installed this summer, at various intervals (not each time a new tile is ordered), and it is not possible to choose where on the wall your tile will be displayed.
